THE LATEST.

A lengthy statement bearing on the rate bill incident in the Senate Saturday was issued from the White House last evening. It consists of a letter from Attorney General Moody to the President, giving an account, at the President's request, of the conference which Mr. Moody had by the President's direction with Senators Tillman and Bailey regarding the court review feature of the pending rate legislation, and a letter from the President to Senator Allison on the subject. The President says his own opinion that the Allison amendment in no way changes the scope of the court review as provided in the original Hepburn Bill is also the opinion of Attorney General Moody and Secretaries Root and Taft. He adds that as to none of the amendments did he say to Mr. Chandler or anyone else that he should insist upon having them in the bill as a condition of his approval.

The Supreme Court of the United States yesterday upheld the right of the State to revoke the license of any insurance company which asks for the removal to the Federal Courts of any suit brought originally in the State courts. The decision also holds that a foreign insurance company is completely under the control of the State and the license may be revoked at any time, whether the reason is a good one or not. Henry R. Prewitt, State Insurance Commissioner, says the decision is of great importance and means much to the State.

John Clark, a young man of North Middletown, while one of a fishing party enjoying a picnic near that place yesterday, was crushed to death on the big wheel of a water-mill. His mangled body was found by his companions some time after they had missed him. He was fishing under the mill when it was started without warning.

All overtures for a peaceful compromise of the controversy over the control of Zion City were called off yesterday, and Voliva and his associates have decided to fight for supremacy in the courts. Application will be made in court to-day for the dissolution of the temporary injunction recently granted to Dowie.

Abraham Hummel, the New York lawyer, must stand trial on two indictments charging subornation of perjury in the Dodge-Morse divorce case and next Monday has been set as the date for his trial. Justice Scott yesterday handed down a decision refusing to quash the indictments.

Two petitions, each asking a distribution among the bondholders, were filed at Lexington yesterday against the American Reserve Bond Company. The suit against individual stockholders was dismissed without prejudice.

Dr. John D. Woods, a prominent physician of Bowling Green, died suddenly Sunday night, at his home. He had heart trouble and had known for five years that he might drop dead at any minute.

The Louisville and Eastern railroad gained an entrance into Frankfort when the City Council last night granted to the Frankfort and Versailles Traction Company the right to use the streets.

The Senate yesterday voted down several proposed amendments to the Railroad Rate Bill and laid others on the table. Not an amendment was adopted during the day.

Gov. Higgins, of New York, has granted an additional respite until June 17 to Albert T. Patrick, under sentence of death for the murder of William M. Rice.

Rufus Combs, of Midway, will receive one of the Carnegie medals offered for bravery. He will be the first Kentuckian to receive such a medal.

The will left by Col. W. W. Baldwin, of Maysville, was opened yesterday. He divides among his family an estate valued at about $100,000.

A police captain at Warsaw was killed by a bomb and seven other persons were wounded. The assassin was killed by a soldier.

DID NOT TRY TO DICTATE

No Room For "Any Honest Misconception,"

Says President of His Attitude on Rate Bill.

His Purpose and Allison's Were Identical.

A STATEMENT FROM MOODY.

Washington, May 14.—The sensational Rate Bill incident in the Senate Saturday during which Mr. Tillman on the authority of former Senator Chandler made statements regarding the President's course in connection with pending railroad rate legislation, some of which statements were denied by Mr. Lodge on behalf of the President, had its sequel this evening when an official statement was issued by the White House giving an account of the subject on the part of the President and Attorney General Moody.

The statement comprised two letters, one from the President to Senator Allison and the other from Attorney General Moody to the President, both dated to-day. The President says: "In no case, either in the case of Mr. Chandler or anyone else, was there the slightest opportunity for any honest misconception of my attitude or any belief that I pledged myself specifically to one and only one amendment or set of amendments, or that I would not be satisfied with any amendment which preserved the essential features of the Hepburn bill as it came from the house."

* * *

Not Trying To Dictate.

The President says that as to many of the amendments including the so-called Long, Overman, Bacon and Spooner amendments, he had said he should be entirely satisfied to have them in the bill and suggested modifications as to other amendments, but that "as to none (of the amendments) did I ever say either to Mr. Chandler or to any one else that I should insist upon having them in the bill as a condition of my approval," and that on the contrary he (the President) was careful to state that he was not trying to dictate any particular programme of action. He says the statement made to Mr. Chandler were the same in substance as those made to Mr. Allison and other Senators of both parties. He says he was asked to see Chandler as the representative of Mr. Tillman in charge of the bill and that the conferences Attorney General Moody had with Senators Tillman and Bailey were such as had been held with many other Senators to determine the phraseology and discuss the effect of amendments proposed by them.

* * *

Views Identical With Allison's.

The President states that he became convinced that it was impossible for Senators "with advantage" to use him as an intermediary and suggested to all to whom he spoke that they communicate with Senator Allison whose purposes and the President's were "identical." The President says that his own opinion that the Allison amendment in no way changed the court review as provided in the original Hepburn bill is also the opinion of Attorney General Moody and Secretaries Root and Taft. The Attorney General's letter gives an account at the President's request of the conferences which Mr. Moody had at the President's direction with Senators Tillman and Bailey regarding the court review feature. He says he advised the President that he should not at any stage become finally committed beyond recall to any form of language in any part of the bill, and the President affirmed the wisdom of that course. He reviews the decision of interlocutory injunctions and concludes that there was nothing ing the "conversations" between the Senators and himself which bound the President to any particular amendment.

* * *

Tillman To Answer In Senate.

Senator Tillman talked freely to-night with a number of his callers about the statement issued by President Roosevelt. He expressed his preference, however, not to be quoted, pointing out that whatever he wished to say on the subject of the statement he would say on the floor of the Senate. He expects that the question will be brought to the front in some way in the Senate to-morrow. He discussed the President's statement to-night with former Senator Chandler, and he urged Mr. Chandler to issue a statement giving a full history of the whole matter. Senator Tillman wanted the fact to go into the newspapers that he did not in any way initiate the negotiations with the President regarding the Democratic support for the Railroad Rate Bill, and that he did not ask Senator Chandler to go to the White House.

* * *

Mr. Chandler Talks.

Former Senator Chandler to-night refused to discuss the statement from the White House. He indicated that he did not expect to issue a statement at this time bearing on the subject. He also indicated that he was anxious to have railroad rate legislation enacted. Regarding his visits to the White House, Mr. Chandler said that previous to his invitation to call to see the President on March 31 following which he conferred with the President regarding the pending rate bill, he had not been at the White House for about a month and that previous to that invitation he had no immediate intention of going there. He said that he did not go to the White House as an emissary for Mr. Tillman, but that he went there in response to the President's invitation.

Following is the correspondence embraced in the statement given out by the White House this evening:

* * *

The President's Letter.

The White House, Washington, May 14, 1906.—My Dear Senator Allison: As Senator Tillman brought in your name in connection with mine in the statement he made concerning our relations to the Rate Bill last Saturday, it is perhaps due to you that I should write you on the matter. After the Rate Bill was reported from the committee and after, by vote of the committee Mr. Tillman had been put in charge of it, many Senators and many outsiders came to see me with reference to it. Among others I was asked to see former Senator Chandler as representing Mr. Tillman, who was in charge of the bill. I stated in response that I was, of course, entirely willing to see Mr. Tillman personally or to see Mr. Chandler or anyone else who could speak for him, and I accordingly directed my secretary to make an appointment for Mr. Chandler to see me. My understanding was that he was the representative of Mr. Tillman. In this first interview he stated to me the views of Mr. Tillman with seeming authority. He called on me several times. During the same period I saw other gentlemen who professed to give the views of other Senators. In addition, I saw numerous Senators, both Republicans and Democrats, some of them once or twice, some of them many times. I also saw numerous outsiders, railroad men, shippers, newspaper men and students of traffic regulation, including especially the Attorney General and the members of the Interstate Commerce Commission and on two occasions I saw groups of newspaper men en masse.

Same Statements To All.

To all of these, Senators, representatives of Senators and outsiders alike, I made the same statements; those that I made to Mr. Chandler being the same in substance that I made to you and to those of your colleagues of both political parties with whom I had any extended conferences on the subject. The letter of the Attorney General, which I inclose, shows fully the facts as to the conferences which, at my instance, he held with Senators Tillman and Bailey. These conferences were precisely such as, at my instance, he had with many other Senators to determine the phraseology and discuss the effect of amendments proposed by them.

To all whom I saw I stated that the Hepburn Bill was, in its essence entirely satisfactory to me. The Hepburn Bill as it passed the House simply recognized the right of review by the courts—that is, the jurisdiction of the courts—but did not attempt to define it, thus leaving the courts to prescribe the limits of their own jurisdiction. This was in accordance with the ideas of the Attorney General, his belief being that thereby we avoided all danger of the bill being declared unconstitutional because of the attempt to confer either too much or too little jurisdiction on the courts.

* * *

Court Review Feature.

I also repeatedly stated that, while it was entirely satisfactory to me simply to leave the Hepburn Bill in substance as it was; that is, with the recognition of the jurisdiction of the court, but without any attempt to define that jurisdiction; yet that I was entirely willing that there should be a definition, provided that this definition did not seek to grant a broad review, but explicitly narrowed it to the two subjects which, as a matter of fact, I believe that the courts would alone consider in case there was no attempt to define the limits of their review; that is, would limit to the question as to whether the commission had acted ultra vires and as to whether any man's constitutional rights had been impaired. I stated that if the question of defining or limiting the review was brought up at all, I personally felt that this was the way in which it should be limited or defined.

At different times at least a score of tentative amendments were either prepared by the Attorney General at the request of Senators or submitted to me by Senators. As to many of these amendments (including among others the substance of the so-called Long, Overman, Bacon and Spooner amendments), I stated that I should be entirely satisfied to have them in the bill; as to others I suggested modifications which would make them satisfactory; as to none did I ever say, either to Mr. Chandler or to anyone else, that I should insist upon having them in the bill as a condition of my approving it. On the contrary, I was always most careful to state that I was not trying to dictate any particular programme of action. In no case, either in the case of Mr. Chandler or in the case of anyone else, was there the slightest opportunity for any honest misconception of my attitude or any belief that I had pledged myself specifically to one and only one amendment or set of amendments, or that I would not be satisfied with any amendment which preserved the essential feature of the Hepburn Bill as it came from the House. You will doubtless recall that in the course of the several visits that you personaly made me we discussed a number of these proposed amendments, trying to find out for which one there could be obtained a sufficient body of assent to secure its passage and the passage of the Rate Bill.

* * *

Many Objectors.

To almost every amendment proposed by anyone I found that there were other excellent men who objected, or who at least wished to change it, and I finally became convinced that it was impossible for Senators with advantage to use me as the interemdiary in coming to an agreement with their colleagues, especially when they only communicated with me through another interemdiary, and I earnestly suggested to all to whom I spoke that they should communicate with you, whose purposes and mine were identical. About this time I was informed by various Democratic senators that they could not come to an agreement upon any amendment and that the best chance for success lay in passing the Hepburn Bill substantially unchanged. I was informed and believed that this was Senator Bailey's view, and a number of the Republican Senators expressed the same opinion. Shortly after this you, in company with Senator Cullom, called on me with the amendment which is now commonly known as the Allison amendment. I told you that while I should prefer the

BIG CROWDS WAIT VAINLY

Galleries of Senate Overrun With Spectators.

All Expected Broadside From White House.

Press Comments On Attitude of President.

SOME CAUSTIC CRITICISMS.

Washington, D. CC., May 14.—[Special.]—There were 2,000 spectators in the Senate gallery and 200 in the press gallery to-day to witness the sensational play of "Veracity," which has of late had quite an interesting run in the upper house of Congress. There was the most intense interest manifested in anticipation of the day's proceedings. Senators Tillman and Bailey were the observed of all observers and Senator Lodge, the champion of the President, was not overlooked. Everybody expected and wished for the Massachusetts Senator to get up and say something and all were hoping for a renewal of Saturday's debate.

Tillman and Bailey, from appearances, were aggressively calm and serene. They looked ready to tackle anything that came their way from the White House. The friendly Senators on the right smiled upon them approvingly. They knew that while they had been tricked they had the President in a hole from which he could not escape, even if he dragged the hole after him. There were eight, if not ten, Senators, men of unimpeachable honor who stood ready to testify; if necessary, that Theodore Roosevelt had told them exactly what he told W. E. Chandler. The White House got this information early in the day. The President was told flatly and firmly that he must not make any denial without positive and unquestionable proof. Even Lodge told him this. He was smarting under his downfall of Saturday.

* * *

Interview With Moody.

Attorney General Moody had in the meantime returned and had a long interview with the President. There were some things that Mr. Moody "forgot," or "could not remember," but the main thing stood out clear and strong in his mind and that was that the President was opposed to anything in the bill that Aldrich, Spooner and Foraker wanted, and that he, the President, would go with Tillman, Bailey and the Democrats for a bill against a broad court review. After his interview with his Attorney General the President ranted and panted and finally subsided with the threat that he would write a letter to Allison and explain his position. There has never been a public question in Washington that has excited such great interest as this. It is the talk of all public places; indeed, nothing else is talked of. That the President of the United States should be openly accused of double dealing and surrendering on a great question before a single shot was fired is amazing.

Comment From Baltimore.

That always conservative journal, the Baltimore Sun, in a long leading editorial concludes as follows:

It is not pleasant to think of Mr. Roosevelt in the light of a cold-blooded politician, on the one hand, or a "quitter," as Senator Bailey pronounces him, on the other. The President has been pictured in the public mind as a hero in civic warfare, a combination in dash, staying power and fierce courage of Hector and Hotspur. It is possible that his proud and gallant spirit is tamed by the thought that the railroads represent $13,000,000,000 of invested capital, and correspondingly large financial possibilities as allies in national campaigns, so long as there is no Federal statute to prevent contributions. And is the President a confirmed skeptic as regards the veracity of his fellowmen? Has not experience taught him that some of them are friends of the truth? In 1904 he characterized certain statements by Judge Parker as falsehoods. And yet in 1905, in the insurance investigations, some of these statements were proved to be true. The characterization of them as false has never been withdrawn. The President applied the term false to certain statements made by Mr. H. M. Whitney, of Massachusetts, who had an interview with him concerning tariff revision. Mr. Whitney's friends have always insisted that the President's language was not justified. Now Mr. Chandler, a former Senator of the United States, is pilloried by Mr. Roosevelt through Senator Lodge as uttering a deliberate and unqualified falsehood. The public is not satisfied now, as it once was, with reckless and indiscriminate flinging of epithets by the President. All of the veracity in the United States is not centered in the Executive Mansion. The country may find in Mr. Chandler's statement justification for the belief that truth can be found outside of the White House, even if blind followers of the President assert that all men are liars who do not agree with Mr. Roosevelt.

As the Star Sees It.

The Evening Star (Republican) says:

In the Senate the atmosphere was surcharged with excitement to-day in anticipation of possible renewal of the exciting incident of last Saturday. The galleries were crowded with visitors, and there was at an early hour a full attendance upon the floor of the Senate. All kept their eyes upon Senator Tillman and Senator Lodge as if they expected at any moment an outbreak. Senator Tillman had a number of newspapers before him, which he appeared to be reading with interest, and Senator Lodge moved about, talking with other Senators in the most unconcerned way. After waiting until late in the afternoon, no explosion having occurred, the crowd, disappointed, gradually dwindled away.

The Chandler-Tillman-Roosevelt controversy was the one topic of conversation among the Senators in committee room and corridor. They all wondered what would be the next move, and were waiting expectantly for word from Attorney General Moody, as they thought it was up to him to have the next say.

Some Republican Senators were inclined to the belief that it would be better politics for the executive to let the whole affair drop without further comment. Many Senators knew enough of the negotiations that have been going on at the White House to be convinced that ex-Senator Chandler and Senator Tillman truthfully represented the scope of the President's attempted dickering with the Democrats.

They have known for some time that this was going on in a general way, and most of them were inclined to accept the statement that the proceedings had gone so far as to result in an agreement between Senator Tillman and Attorney General Moody upon the form of an amendment which would be acceptable alike to the President and the Democrats together with the radical Republicans.

When Senators Bailey and Senator Tillman assured their colleagues in private that they had the original of this document on paper that bore the watermarks of the Department of Justice, with Attorney General Moody's interlineations in his own handwriting, Senators found it difficult to see how the President or Mr. Moody could make successful denial of the negotiations.

That then left only the question of the President's denial through Senator Lodge of Mr. Chandler's statement that the President had criticised Senators Knox, Foraker and Spooner. Many Senators know personally that the President has criticised these Senators and others on the conservative side in language that was by no means complimentary. Senators pointed out to-day that the adoption by the President of the so-called Allison amendment, the very amendment for which Mr. Knox, Mr. Spooner and Mr. Foraker, together with others who came under the presidential censure, have been working for, ought to be accepted by these gentlemen as proof positive that the President does not believe that they have been working to injure the bill.

They said that the President may have thought so, for he undoubtedly has intimated as much to others besides Senator Chandler, but that evidently he changed his mind as to the alleged injurious attitude of those Senators toward the bill at the time when he accepted the Allison amendment. Therefore, they think that the criticised Senators are amply vindicated in the President's present attitude toward the amendment for which they have so conscientiously, persistently and consistently labored.

These Republican Senators then went on to say that with silence at the White House and with Senator Chandler's report on record the case will probably be closed, and that it will undoubtedly die out in a few days for lack of further fuel to feed the flame.

"Roosevelt Psychology."

Under the headline of "Roosevelt Psychology," the New York Evening Post says:

Yesterday's outbreak in the Senate was only what those in cose touch with the situation have been predicting. Too many angry men have been going about with a sense of having been tricked by the President in this Rate Bill matter to make possible to suppress open charges of bad faith. But Senators who say these unpleasant things merely show that they are not adepts in that fascinating study, Roosvelt Psychology. The President has simply displayed the same qualities at Washington that he exhibited at Albany as Governor. That is to say, when some project of legislation in which he is deeply interested is pending he talks on all sides of it with appalling energy, appears to abound in the opinions of every man with whom he confers, and sets a dozen people to work for him in contradictory ways. When he finds where the majority is going to be he sides with it vehemently and declares that he never dreamed of doing anything else. This is the process which his friends call his engaging habit of "thinking out loud." His enemies apply a harsher word, but the result is the same. There are always legislators to say that he has deceived them; there is always an astute and powerful leader like Aldrich to get the necessary votes together and then exhibit Mr. Roosevelt as "ever strong upon the stronger side." The Rhode Island Senator deserved the congratulations which were offered him yesterday. As was justly said, he is the one Republican Senator in the Senate who knows what he wants and gets it. Just now he has got the consent of the President, who vowed that he would "ne'er consent."

NUMEROUS AMENDMENTS

To the Railroad Bill Voted Down Or Laid On Table.

Washington, May 14.—The session of the Senate to-day passed without any exciting incident and without the adoption of a single amendment to the Railroad Rate Bill notwithstanding that measure was under consideration practically all the time from the hour of the convening, 11 o'clock, until adjournment at 5:15 p. m. The most characteristic feature of the day was the rejection of amendments. This was accomplished either by direct vote or by the process of laying on the table, and one followed another in rapid succession.

Among the provisions thus adversely disposed of were several intended to fix the liability of railroad companies for injury to employes. The presentation of provisions intended to accomplish this purpose had the effect of bringing out a practically authoritative statement that the Committee on Interstate Commerce will report the independent House bill on that subject which is now pending before it.

When the Senate adjourned the eighth section of the bill regulating the personnel of the Interstate Commerce Commission was under consideration. Senator Lodge offered a substitute for the pending section providing for a new commission of nine members, one from each of the judicial courts, but indicated a willingness to accept a modification, suggested by Senator Bailey, requiring the creation of nine transportation districts with one member from each of them. The Senate will meet at its regular hour, 12 o'clock, instead of 11, as it has been meeting for some days past.

Nomination Sent To Senate.

Washington, May 14.—The President to-day sent the following nomination to the Senate: To be United States Attorney for the Western district of Tennessee, George Randolph.

ORDERED TO INVESTIGATE FRANK S. MONNETT.

Bucyrus, O., May 14.—Judge Tobias to-day, in charging the grand jury asked for an investigation of the record of Frank S. Monnett, and former Prosecutor Charles Gallinger, of this county, on the rumor that in a case against several railroads several years ago, they received $5,000 more than was authorized by the court, which extra amount it is alleged has never been accounted for. Monnett is at present engaged as a special counsel for the Government in the investigation of the relations of the railroads with the iron and coal industries.

COURT UPHOLDS INSURANCE LAW

Kentucky May Take Away Company's License

After State's Jurisdiction Has Been Removed.

Highest Tribunal Sustains Commonwealth.

QUESTION LONG CONSIDERED.

Washington, May 14.—[Special.]—The United States Supreme Court, by a seven to two decision, Justices Harlan and Day, dissenting, to-day set aside orders heretofore entered dismissing the writ of error and affirmed the judgment of the Court of Appeals of Kentucky in the cases of the Security Mutual Life and Traveler's Insurance Companies vs. Henry R. Prewitt, Insurance Commissioner of the State of Kentucky. This unexpected action of the court was taken owing to the fact that the permits to do business had been renewed for another year. They were dismissed last February because only abstract questions remained to be decided, the license to do business having expired. When the court was informed of the granting of a new permit it at once began the consideration of the case as an original and to-day sustained the contentions of Judge James H. Hazelrigg, the Commonwealth's counsel.

In delivering the opinion of the court Justice Peckham said the matter to be determined is whether a State has the right to provide that if a foreign insurance company shall remove a case to the Federal Court, which has been commenced in a State court, the license of such company to do business within the State shall be thereupon revoked. Justice Peckham says a State has the right to prohibit a foreign corporation from doing business within its borders unless such prohibition is so conditioned as to violate some provision of the Federal Constitution, "having the power to prevent a foreign insurance company from doing business at all within the State, we think the State can enact such a statute as Section 631 of the Kentucky Statutes."

* * *

Iowa Case Cited.

"It is urged," continued Justice Peckham, "that the Iowa and Texas statutes do not require an agreement not to remove. The Iowa statute provides that the application for a permit should contain a stipulation that the permit should be subject to each of the provisions of the act, among which was one that the corporation should forfeit the permit if it should remove the case. This was held to be in effect a stipulation not to remove exacted as a condition for granting the permit. In other words, the statute was regarded as exacting an agreement in advance not to remove a case and such being the fact it was held that the statute was void. The Texas statute is to the same effect. The most that can be contended for is that the Barron case holds that when the statute exacts a stipulation in advance as a condition of granting a permit and the statute is not separable into parts, the whole statute is void and a provision for withdrawing the permit if a case is removed is not saved. That principle, as we have said, does not touch this Kentucky case, as there is no exaction of a stipulation at any time. It has not been decided that a statute which has no requirement for a stipulation or agreement not to remove is void if there be simply a provision there'n for a revocation of the permit such as is contained in the statute under review.

* * *

State May Refuse Permit.

"As a State has power to refuse permission to a foreign insurance company to do business at all within its confines and as it has power to withdraw that permission, when once given, without stating any reason for its action, the fact that it may give what some may think a poor reason or none for a valid act is immaterial. It is admitted that a State has power to prevent a company from coming into its domain and that it has power to take away its right to remain after having been permitted once to enter, and that right may be exercised from good or bad motives, but what the companies deny is the right of a State to enact in advance that if a company remove a case to a Federal Court its license shall be revoked.

* * *

Distinction Not Well Founded.

"We think this distinction is not well founded. The truth is that the effect of the statute is simply to place foreign insurance companies upon a par with domestic ones doing business in Kentucky. No speculation or agreement being required as a condition for coming into the State and obtaining a permit to do business therein. The mere enactment of a statute which, in substance says if you choose to exercise your right to remove a case into a Federal Court your right to further do business within the State shall cease and your permit shall be withdrawn, is not open to any constitutional objection."

PREWITT PLEASED.

Says Decision Is Great Victory For Kentucky.

Mt. Sterling, Ky., May 14.—[Special.]—State Insurance Commissioner Prewitt received word to-night of the Supreme Court's decision, and was highly pleased, as it is a great victory for him, and means much for the State. The decision settles two important questions, the first, that the State has absolute control over foreign corporations, when not in conflict with interstate commerce law and second, that it makes it absolutely compulsory with the commissioner that all licenses must be revoked if the companies decline to allow all cases to be decided by the State courts. Commissioner Prewitt says that as this is the first offense of the companies whose licenses he revoked, he is willing to treat them fairly, but that in future all must obey the law or quit doing business in this State. He has been fighting this question ever since he has been in office, and is highly gratified over his victory. Commissioner Prewitt will go to Nashville Thursday to deliver an address on fire insurance before a meeting of business men.

CINCINNATI KENTUCKIANS TO HAVE SPECIAL TRAIN.

Want To Outdo All Other Cities In Point of Home-coming Numbers.

Cincinnati, O., May 14.—[Special.]—The Kentucky Society, at Cincinnati, has practically completed its arrangements for a special train, the handsomest ever run out of Cincinnati, which will leave for Louisville June 13. From present indications, at least 300 Kentuckians now living in Cincinnati will leave on that train for Home-coming Week. That many have already signfied their intention and nearly 1,000 former Kentuckians living in the State at large have been enrolled.

The officers of the Kentucky Society who are arranging for this trip are Col. Brent Arnold, president; Col. Crit. T. Collings, vice president; Buckner A. Wallingford, Jr., treasurer, and John L. Shuff, secretary. Attractive literature headed "The Colonels' Going Home" has been issued.

When the committee began their work, they anticipated a good size crowd, but the number is growing so rapidly that it now seems that the excursion will be the greatest of the kind ever attempted. Col. Arnold said after the meeting that while he was in Louisville he learned that 400 were expected from St. Louis, and he would not be satisfied unless Cincinnati left all other points far in the distance. The delegation will be supplied with badges before leaving Cincinnati.

FAMILY OF NINE MURDERED AT NIGHT

HOUSE FIRED BY ASSASSINS AFTER DASTARDLY DEED.

CHARRED BODIES FOUND IN RUINS OF HOME.

CITIZENS OFFER REWARD.

Pensacola, Fla., May 14.—One of the most horrible crimes in the history of this State, if not of the entire South, was committed in Santa Rosa county, ten miles north of Milton last night. An itinerant preacher named Ackerman, his wife and seven children, the eldest about fourteen years old, were killed and their bodies cremated in their home, which was fired by the assassins. The crime was discovered this morning by parties with whom Ackerman had an appointment. They found the house in ruins and the charred bodies of Ackerman and the eight other members of his family scattered about among the wreckage.

Examination by physicians showed that Ackerman and his wife had been struck in the head with some instrument, their skulls being crushed. The citizens of Milton have raised more than a thousand dollars which will be offered as a reward for the apprehension of the assassins, and Governor Broward has been appealed to to offer a reward for the State.

Ackerman moved to the settlement which was known as Allentown from Opp, Ala., about three years ago. He was considered as a peaceable and quiet citizen. It is not known that he had any enemies who could have a motive for the crime.

TORN TO PIECES

BOMB EXPLOSION KILLS WARSAW POLICE CAPTAIN.

Soldiers Kill the Assassin and a Few Bystanders For Good Measure.

Warsaw, May 14.—While Police Captain Constantinoff was standing in Marszalkowska street this evening with two policemen and four soldiers, a young man threw a bomb into the group. The explosion literally tore Capt. Constantinoff to pieces and severely wounded a policeman and six other persons. The assassin tried to escape and firing his revolver wounded a soldier. The other soldiers replied with a volley, killing the assassin and two other persons. The soldiers then attacked the people who had gathered with their bayonets and the butts of their guns, wounding eleven persons, making a total of four killed and nineteen wounded.

The Terrorists have sought Capt. Constantinoff's life since May Day of last year, when he ordered the soldiers to fire on a procession of Socialists, causing the death of thirty persons.

MERCHANT KILLED BY HIS DAUGHTER.

Jacksonville, Fla., May 14.—C. E. Hooks, a well-known merchant, was shot and killed this afternoon by his seventeen-year-old daughter, Bessie. Hooks returned to-day after a week's absence and had a violent quarrel with his wife. His daughter says she secured his revolver to prevent his using it, and in a scuffle, he trying to take it from her, it was discharged, the bullet entering his breast and killing him instantly. The wife and two daughters were the only witnesses.

LIFE ENDS AT SEVENTY-SIX

Carl Schurz Succumbs to Complication of Diseases.

Ex-Senator and Former Secretary of Interior.

Striking Figure in War and in Politics.

NOTED WRITER AND SPEAKER.

New York, May 14.—Carl Schurz, widely known as a publicist and former Cabinet member, died at his home in this city at 4:35 o'clock this morning. Death was due to a complication of diseases following an attack of stomach trouble, which became acute on Thursday last. In spite of brief periods of seeming improvement Mr. Schurz slowly failed and yesterday afternoon sank into a state of coma, which continued until the end. At the bedside were his son, Carl D., and two daughters, Marianne and Agatha, Edward L. Pretorius, Mr. Schurz's business partner, and Drs. Jacobi and Strauss.

Seventy-six Years Old.

Mr. Schurz was seventy-six years old, having been born in Cologne March 2, 1829. His residence here was 24 East Ninety-first street.

Forced to flee from the land of his birth before he had attained his majority Carl Schurz soon became, and for more than half a century remained, one of the striking figures in the public life of the land of his adoption. Born in the village of Libelar, near Cologne, in 1829, Schurz became interested in the revolutionary movement in Germany while attending the University of Bonn, and when the uprising came, in 1849, he served as a private in the ranks of the insurgents. He was with Gen. Tideman when the latter surrendered the fortress of Rastadt in July of that year and made almost miraculous escape through the sewer connection with the Rhine and fled to Switzerland.

A year later he returned to Germany, under an assumed name, for the purpose of liberating his friend, Prof. Kinkel, who had been taken a prisoner at the surrender of the fortress and sentenced to life imprisonment. This daring and romantic project was carried to a successful conclusion and created a sensation throughout Europe. His marriage to Margaret Mayer, the daughter of a prominent merchant, in 1852 was an indirect outgrowth of the sensational rescue of his friend from prison. That exploit had been made one of the features of "die von Hohenstein," by Friedrich Spielhagen, a popular novelist of that time. In the story Schurz figured as Wolfgang von Hohenstein and Kinkel as Dr. Munzer. Schurz's acquaintance with the woman, who became his wife, was traceable to the fame of his exploit as described by Spielhagen.

Career In War and Politics.

Soon after his marriage Schurz came to this country, locating first at Philadelphia. Three years later he removed to Wisconsin, allied himself with the Fremont forces in the campaign and took part in the campaign of the following year. During the succeeding twenty years he was one of the prominent figures in the political history of the country. He went to Spain as United States Minister in 1861, later resigning to return and serve in the Civil War, during which he earned the title of Major General. In 1869 he was elected to the United States Senate from Missouri, being the first German-born citizen to become a member of the upper house of Congress. In the meantime he had engaged in newspaper work, both at Washington and in the West, and had transferred his residence from Wisconsin to Missouri, where he became joint proprietor of the Westliche Post, in St. Louis, being associated with Emil Pretorius.

His career in the Senate was a brilliant one. By his unswerving course in support of independent principles, however, he became estranged from the Republican party, with which he was then identified, and retired from the Senate in 1875.

Once Secretary of Interior.

His public service did not come to an end at that time by any means. Many of the independent political movements since have felt the weight of his influence and gained the benefit of his active co-operation. He was one of the organizers of the Liberal party in 1872 and presided over the convention at Cincinnati which nominated Horace Greeley for President. He supported the national Republican ticket in 1876 and in the year following became Secretary of the Interior in the Cabinet of Mr. Hayes. During his tenure of office he effected wide reforms in the administration of the department. These reforms were particularly notable in that arm of the department which deals with Indian affairs. At the close of his term of office he came to New York and devoted all the remainder of his long life to editorial and literary work. He had a beautiful summer home at Lake George and there a large part of his declining years were spent with his books, his music, of which he was passionately fond, and his memoirs.

The following cablegram from Prince Henry of Prussia was received at the Schurz home to-day:

"Kindly forward all information concerning Mr. Schurz's death."

ill governed, and the schoolboy rebels determined to substitute a republic for a monarchy. Of course, they were put down, and Schurz and a companion were imprisoned, escaped and ran away. Their experience was much like that of stage heroes, says the Brooklyn Eagle, but it released Carl Schurz to liberty and opportunity in the United States.

In this country, he at once antagonized slavery, joined the Republican party, went to what was then the Northwest, became a journalist and an agitator in Michigan and in Wisconsin, and Abraham Lincoln made him successively Minister to Spain and a General in the Union Army. His appointment to Spain was wholly a political reward. That country was interesting to him only as a student. Politically, there was nothing there he could tolerate or mend. As a reward his appointment was intelligible. As an attraction or an opportunity, it was nil.

* * *

Made Major General.

No wonder he preferred the army of the Union, when Abraham Lincoln made him a Major General in 1862. He had had military schooling as a student and a fighting experience as a rebel in Germany. That gave to him fighting fitness at a time the Union greatly needed it. He was a brave soldier, but not a very fortunate one. Yet his major generalship was a recognition of German-American sentiment. It enabled him to antagonize slavery and slaveholders. It also made him familiar with the merits and the faults of militarism. As his knowledge of war became practical, his preference for peace became distinct. His militant spirit in the movements which magnified peace was an unconscious satire, and it was sometimes an interference with his influence.

But his career was then only in the making, though it had already been marked by rare recognitions and preferments. He had been Republican candidate for Lieutenant Governor of Wisconsin, though not elected. He had been an earnest speaker for his party in German and in English, in Ohio, Illinois, Michigan and New York. He had been sent to the national convention which nominated Abraham Lincoln. His career, between 1852, when he arrived in these States, and 1861, when he was sent to Spain, was marked by advances that were romantic and rewarding. The major generalcy was simply an extension of the consideration before commanded by him.

After the Civil War, he in a sense began life over again. Part of 1865-6 he wrote for the New York Tribune from Washington. In the middle of the latter year he founded the Detroit Post. A year later he established the St. Louis Westliche Post, which in part he always owned, and in 1868 he was the chairman of the Republican convention which first nominated Grant.

* * *

Elected Senator.

We have been careful to note dates in this part of his career. Just two years after his settlement in Missouri, he was elected by the Legislature with a Democrat, to the United States Senate for a term of six years. This was the highest honor a German-American citizen could obtain. It placed Mr. Schurz at the forefront of attention where he could identify himself with the largest national questions. His ingrained and intense independence was then shown. It took forms, or it helped bring about effects, of lasting importance. His election was due to causes which should be briefly recalled.

Missouri had been "reconstructed" with the result of a state constitution which enfranchised all negroes, which disfranchised, in effect, most Democrats in the State and which reposed the counting of votes and the issue of certificates of election in the hands of a self-perpetrating State returning board. For years the State had been governed by the disfranchisement of a large majority of citizens and by the commissioning of admittedly unelected men. Carl Schurz advised all citizens to take the oath, whether they thought they could rightly do so or not, and to present themselves at the polls in such numbers and with such determination that those who could refuse their ballots would be afraid to do so. The same course was taken with the State returning board. Missouri was forcibly revolutionized and enfranchised, under a form of peaceful procedure which an usurping minority was afraid to infract. The senatorship came to Carl Schurz as the author and the heir of this peaceful revolution. Its method was not ethical, but was excused by the fact that the evil it ended was diabolical and intolerable.

He carried independence into his senatorship. With others he defeated the annexation of Santo Domingo. He opposed remonetization of silver. He denounced Grant's partisan use of the patronage. He headed the Liberal revolt against Republicanism from within it. He supported Greeley against Grant. He resumed Republicanism and smote Grantism within it, by supporting Hayes. The latter made him Secretary of the Interior, and that was the last Federal office he held. In 1884 he bolted from Blaine and helped elect Cleveland, but took no office under him, and with the late Henry Villard, his German-American friend and compatriot, he acquired the New York Evening Post, and edited it in association with Mr. Godkin, from whom he differed, though in friendly fashion, with the result of abandoning journalism for historical composition, which he was wont to call "the aristocracy of literature."

* * *

His Literary Work.

His "Life of Henry Clay" marked the perfection of political biography. His monograph of Abraham Lincoln was recognized as the finest anywhere written and will be a gem of authorship forever. His autobiography, so far as it has appeared, is the best work of that kind that has been known in America since Franklin's as brought out by John Bigelow. His occasional addresses on civil service reform were the ablest anywhere delivered in English. His opposition to the Philippine policy of McKinley and Roosevelt was the strongest anywhere waged, though as unsuccessful as any other hostility to the manifest destiny of expansion. There was no American citizen more liked by supporters and more respected by opponents.

The death of no American citizen in present times could score a deeper and wider regret. He was honored in Germany as much as he was in America. He was a great man, revered by great men, and appreciation of him, whether as a supporter or as an opponent, became a test and proof of greatness itself. The grandfather of the present Kaiser markedly honored him and assured him that Germany had attained all the rights for which he had contended and risked his life, when a stripling. The present Kaiser did the same.

* * *

Faithful To Convictions.

In politics he was more of a variant than a type. He regarded party as a means, not as an end. He regarded results or principles as matters for which parties should be used as vehicles, to bear them onward. When a vehicle failed, he found or made another, but kept his course right on. When the American people differed with him, he was patient and not vindictive, but he was not moved to change his course or his views because of their temporary failure or seeming unpopularity. From Lincoln to Cleveland and from Cleveland to Bryan, all of whom he supported, the latter in his second canvass, he upheld the same principles, or thought he did, and upheld them bravely. The superficial inconsistency, with which he was chargeable, in naught impaired his moral fidelity to his unchanged convictions which partisan alignments affected not at all to him. No native American has exceeded him in fidelity to liberty and to truth, and no German-American has equaled him in the history of this Republic in the ability to express, to create and to incite noble thoughts on noble themes, or to move men to high endeavor on behalf of high principles and policies, in our national life.

MR. CLEVELAND'S TRIBUTE.

Former President Says Death of Mr. Schurz is National Affliction.

Princeton, N. J., May 14.—Former President Grover Cleveland to-night paid the following tribute of the late Carl Schurz: "I look upon the death of Mr. Schurz as a national affliction. Though he had reached length of years and though his activity had waned, he was still a power and strong influence in the life and sentiment of his countrymen. To those who prized high disinterested patriotism he continued to be an inspiring leader; to those who loved unflinching moral courage, he was a constant teacher, and to those who aspired to the highest ideals in civic life he was an unfailing guide. His example and lofty career are left to us to stimulate the young to virtuous emulation and to encourage all in right living. Such men can ill be spared, and what they leave to us should be carefully kept as a precious legacy."

Telegram From President.

Washington, May 14.—President Roosevelt to-day sent the following telegram to Carl L. Schurz at New York:

"Pray accept the expression of my profound sympathy in the death of your father. This country has lost a statesman of Lincoln's generation whose services both in peace and in war at the great crisis of the republic's history will not be forgotten while that history lasts."

DEATH COMES WITH GREAT SUDDENNESS

DR. JOHN D. WOODS STRICKEN IN HIS HOME.

KNEW FOR YEARS HE WOULD DIE QUICKLY.

WELL-KNOWN PHYSICIAN.

Bowling Green, Ky., May 14.—Dr. John D. Woods died suddenly last night at the home of his son-in-law, E. R. Bagby, near the city. His death was due to a species of heart disease, which Dr. Woods knew he suffered, having been a prominent and efficient physician in earlier years. Dr. Woods rarely spoke of his fears, but his most intimate friends knew he was cognizant of the fact that his life might end at any time. For five years the members of his family would not have been surprised had the end come at any minute.

Fearing such, W. J. Potter a few years ago had a private telephone line constructed from his residence to the home of Dr. Woods, near by, in order that in case his his father-in-law suffered one of his attacks the members of the family could be quickly summoned. It was the irony of fate, however, that Dr. Woods and his lovable and devoted wife were alone last night when the venerable physician and editor was stricken.

Mrs. Woods immediately telephoned Dr. H. P. Cartwright of her husband's condition. This was about 9 o'clock. Dr. Cartwright responded as quickly as possible, but found Dr. Woods beyond human aid. He died about 10 o'clock.

There was never, perhaps, a more lovable or truly Christian character in Bowling Green and his death touched the heartstrings of every one who knew and loved him. Dr. Woods was in the best apparent health yesterday. He attended devotional services at the First Presbyterian church in the morning as had for years been his custom. In the afternoon he walked about the place, looked at the garden and at the evening meal ate as heartily as usual.

The funeral services over the remains of Dr. Woods will take place at 10 o'clock to-morrow morning from the First Presbyterian church, of which he was a member. Emmett G. Logan, William J. Denhardt and Judge O. A. Roup will be the newspaper associates who will act as pall-bearers. The other pall-bearers will be C. U. McElroy, I. D. McGoodwin, Sam A. Walker and Thomas Pollard.

Dr. Woods was born at Brownsville, Tenn., October 31, 1830, and was in his seventy-sixth year. He was married in 1864 to Miss Martha A. Moseley, in Mississippi. He is survived by a widow and the following children: Miss Elizabeth Woods, who is now in Florence, Italy; John G. Woods, who is in the mail service between Louisville and St. Louis and who arrived here at 6 o'clock; Mrs. William J. Potter and Mrs. E. R. Bagby, of this city. A brother, Judge Thomas H. Woods, of Meridian, Miss., survives.

Congressman James M. Richardson, of Glasgow, a nephew, and former Congressman J. McKenzie Moss, of this city, are the only other relatives Dr. Woods had in this section except his immediate family.

In 1871 Dr. Woods moved to Glasgow, Ky. He had already become a practitioner of high degree, but his fancy tended to literary work, and he became associated with Mr. James Richardson in the publication of the Glasgow Times, and made that paper at that time one of the most widely quoted in the State. While Dr. Woods was a student and thinker, his greatest fame and perhaps his greatest newspaper love was the work of a paragrapher, in which he excelled.

He came to Bowling Green in 1883 and was at first associated in newspaper work with Mr. E. H. Porter and Mr. C. M. Coombs in the publication of the Gazette. In 1893 his son-in-law, Mr. E. R. Bagby, purchased the Warren County Courier from Messrs. Fleenor and Denhardt, and Dr. Woods became the editor. He continued with the paper until it was merged with the Times-Gazette, and then retained his editorial relations with the paper until it became the Times-Journal, only about a year ago, having retired to private life.

ALLEGED UBERO PROMOTER ON TRIAL.

The complainants against Borges allege that losses aggregating $1,500,000 had been sustained. Borges has been in jail for months in default of $75,000 bail.

FRANCHISE GRANTED

LOUISVILLE AND EASTERN HAS WAY INTO FRANKFORT.

Will Build Line From Shelbyville and May Extend To Lawrenceburg.

Frankfort, Ky., May 14.—[Special]—Major D. W. Sanders, of the Louisville & Eastern Railway, was in the city to-day perfecting plans for the extension of the road from Shelbyville to Frankfort. The street car ordinance granting the privileges of the use of the streets of the city to the Frankfort & Versailles Traction Company was passed by the city council to-night. Judge Jere Morton, of Lexington, appeared for the company, which is a branch of the Blue Grass Traction Company, and said there would be no conflict of interest between the Louisville & Eastern Company and the company he represented.

A big delegation, headed by Senator-elect Paynter, James Andrew Scott, W. H. Posey and other property owners living on Shelby street, appeared and entered a protest against that part of the ordinance which permitted the hauling of freight on Shelby street. Judge Morton, for the company, conceded that point, and it was stricken out by agreement. The action to-night, it is asserted, means the speedy building of the road from Frankfort to Versailles. Judge Morton stated a line was in contemplation from Frankfort to Lawrenceburg and from Frankfort to Owenton.

ASK DIVISION

Among Stockholders of Colonial Securities Company.

TWO NEW SUITS FILED IN LEXINGTON COURTS.

BOTH WANT RECEIVER TO TAKE CHARGE OF ASSETS.

INDIVIDUAL CASES DROPPED.

Lexington, Ky., May 14.—[Special.]—Two intervening petitions were filed this evening in the Circuit Court in the case of Elizabeth Saville, and others against the American Reserve Bond Company formerly the Southern Mutual Investment Company. These petitions were filed by James K. Christian, of Florida, and Mary S. Nau, of St. Louis. The first named petition alleges that the petitioner was a coupon holder in this company, and asks that the receiver appointed by this court take charge of all the assets of the company and make an equitable distribution. The last named petition states that the plaintiff was a large coupon holder in the Colonial Securities Company of St. Louis, which company was afterwards consolidated with the Southern Mutual Investment Company and other companies under the name of the American Reserve Bond Company, and asks that the receiver of this court take charge of the assets of the consolidated companies and make a distribution in accordance with the assets of the several companies consolidated.

In other words, the petition of Mrs. Nau, prays that the assets of the Colonial Securities Company be distributed among the coupon holders of this company, irrespective of the other companies, of the consolidated concern.

The receivership of the American Reserve Bond Company came up to-day under several motions. An order was entered dismissing without prejudice the case against the individuals named in the petition, J. D. Purcell, W. J. Loughridge, A. Smith Bowman, John Skain and Joseph Skain. This leaves the suit for a receiver against the company alone. Upon motion the cases of Nellie Peters and others and John A. Warren, both against the Southern Mutual Investment Company were consolidated with the case of Elizabeth Saville, and others against the American Reserve Bond Company.

Fire broke out this afternoon in the hemp warehouse of W. J. Loughridge and Son, and caused a loss estimated at $6,000. Nearly the entire loss was on the hemp stored in the warehouse, the loss on the building being only about $300. This is the third fire within two years at this warehouse. The theory as to the cause of each fire is spontaneous combustion.

NOT AGENT OF BOARD

Cronan Says He Represented Property Owners.

Used No Money To Influence School Trustees.

Paid Van der Espt $500 More Than Option Price.

HEARING AGAIN WEDNESDAY.

The investigation of the sale of the property on Pearl street for a site for a school for colored children to the Louisville School Board through Charles J. Cronan, a real estate agent, was begun last night by the special committee appointed at the last meeting of the board. The committee is composed of Phil B. Thompson, James Norton and Marion W. Ripy. Owing to the fact that the committee had to formulate rules to guide the hearing of testimony, it was late when the session opened.

Mrs. Edmonia Shannon and Charles J. Cronan were the only witnesses examined last night, although more were on hand ready to testify should they have been called. Mrs. Shannon, who sold two pieces of property to the School Board for $5,985, told of the transaction with Charles Cronan in the sale of the property. She said that she only received $3,100 for the property, although she signed a proposition and a deed to the Louisville School Board which stipulated that the property was sold for $5,985. She said she agreed to pay Mr. Cronan $50 as commission, but later he said if she would sign an agreement that he could have all over $3,100 he would knock off the commission. This she said she agreed to. When she found out what Mr. Cronan got for the property she said she told him that he certainly got more out of it than she did.

Had To Pay Van Der Espt $500.

Charles Cronan was on the stand for over two hours. He related how he secured options on the property of Mrs. Shannon and Victor Van Der Espt. He read the options secured and said that both Mrs. Shannon and Mr. Van Der Espt knew when they signed the deeds that he was selling the property for more than he agreed to pay them, and that they made no objection. He said, though, that he finally had to pay Victor Van Der Espt $500 more than the option called for. He denied that he acted as an agent for the School Board, but asserted that he was the agent for Mrs. Shannon and Mr. Van Der Espt. He denied both in chief and on cross-examination that he used any money to influence any member of the board or anyone else in securing the adoption of his proposition for sale of the property to the School Board. He said that he thought his action was legitimate.

The Investigating Committee adjourned to meet again at 8 o'clock to-morrow night, when the taking of testimony will be continued. The rules of order and the basis of the investigation as prepared by the committee were filed with the official stenographer. They are as follows:

* * *

Rules To Govern Hearing.

Witnesses before said committee shall be examined by the attorney for the board, as is usual in such cases; and any person interested in said investigation, and any person accused of improper conduct, shall be permitted to have counsel to represent them and cross-examine all witnesses.

This committee shall preside at the hearing and decide all questions as to the competency of testimony or its relevancy to the issue or question under consideration.

All witnesses shall be confined in their testimony to the actual facts and issue in controversy, viz.:

Whether any member of the board has been guilty of any improper conduct pertaining to the purchase of the lots on Pearl street.

Whether the agent, C. J. Cronan, has been guilty of any deception or fraud in his relation with the board.

Whether or not C. J. Cronan acted or was empowered to act as the agent of the board.

Whether any person, in or out of the board, has been guilty of any illegal, fraudulent or wrongful conduct in his transaction with the board pertaining to said deal.

* * *

All Had Lawyers.

Arthur Wallace appeared as the attorney for Charles J. Cronan and Wallace McKay for the School Board. Maj. R. C. Davis appeared as the attorney for Trustee Ripy, who offered the resolution in the School Board that led to the appointment of the investigating committee. Several members of the School Board were in attendance to hear the testimony and incidentally to appear on the witness stand if called upon. Outside of the members of the board, only a few persons were present.

It was 8:50 o'clock when Chairman Thompson, of the special committee, rapped for order. Arthur Wallace was recognized, and said that he was the legal representative of Charles J. Cronan, who, it seemed, had been charged by Mr. Ripy with some kind of unfair dealing in the matter of the sale of certain property. He said that the charter provided that the board could investigate certain charges against its employes, its members, and that they should be made in writing and signed. Said he:

"I also see that a suit is threatened against my client. In view of this fact, I would like to see the charges before the taking of testimony is begun."

* * *

To Investigate Rumors.

Chairman Thompson stated that he believed that the committee was sitting to investigate certain rumors, something like the recent investigation by the Board of Aldermen in the electric light franchise. Mr. Ripy interposed, and said that there were no charges against Mr. Cronan. Mr. Ripy announced that Maj. R. C. Davis represented him.

Wallace McKay, attorney for the School Board, announced that he was there as the representative of the School Board or any member of that body. He said he was present to assist in a fair investigation, and if any member of the board profitted by the deal in question he wanted the matter brought out. He said he was there to do his duty.

* * *

Witnesses Are Separated.

After the rules were read, Mr. Ripy insisted that the witnesses should be separated, and they were asked to pass into an adjoining room. The witnesses present to testify for Mr. Cronan were Miss Augusta Frank, stenographer for the Louisville Title Company; Miss Annie Carroll, stenographer for Mr. Cronan, and G. W. Hutchison, treasurer of the Louisville Title Company. Besides Mrs. Shannon, Walter van der Espt was present to testify for Mr. Ripy.

Mrs. Edmonia Shannon was the first witness placed on the stand. She was interrogated by Attorney Wallace McKay. She said she lived at Lagrange and owned the two pieces of property sold to the School Board on Pearl street. She said she placed the property in the hands of Charles J. Cronan about Christmas. When he first communicated with her about the property, she said she would take $3,500 for it, but Mr. Cronan said he would try the property at $3,100. She said he also wanted 2½ per cent. commission for selling it. She said she told him it was too much, and that she would give him $50 commission.

* * *

Wanted All Over $3,100.

The witness hte nsaid that Mr. Cronan came to see her and agreed to knock off the commission if she would agree that he should have all over $3,100 that he could get for the property. She said she signed hte option because she was anxious to sell the property, as she could not improve it.

Mrs. Shannon said that when the check was passed it was for $5,985, and that she received $3,100.

"Were you satisfied with the consideration?" asked Attorney McKay.

"Well," replied the witness, "I needed the money and the property was in bad condition."

"Did Cronan keep his contract with you?"

"Yes, I got the $3,100."

Piles Cured

As Easily As a Cough; Painlessly, Quickly and Without Cutting.

Trial Package Mailed Free.

The agony and suffering in piles is so great, that if a surgical operation was a certain cure (which it isn't) and there was no other means of relief some persons might be willing to take the chance of blood poisoning or lockjaw.

But, now that the Pyramid Pile Cure has been discovered and has been proven to be a quick and certain means of relief and lasting cure, there is no excuse for risking your life.

Does Pyramid Pile Cure give immediate relief? Does it cure? Try it and prove it to yourself as thousands have done before you. Then go to your druggist and get a 50-cent box and complete the cure.

Pyramid Pile Cure will cure you and do it with a certainty and a rapidity that will astonish you.

Take, for example, the case of Mr. Benjamin Shaw, Postmaster of Bland. We quote his own words in his letter of October 31, 1905: "I was in great agony of mind and body. In the meantime, a gentleman told me of the virtue of your Pyramid remedy. I fortunately found it at a drug store, and by the next morning I did not feel that any operation was necessary, and in three days I was able to return home, and a complete cure was accomplished to my great satisfaction and the surprise of the physician."

For a trial package, send your name and address to the Pyramid Drug Co., 4595 Pyramid building, Marshall, Michigan, and you will get a trial package by return mail. No marks.

ELOPING COUPLE EXPECT TO PAY EXPENSES WITH $3.65

Magistrate Declines Fee of Ninety Cents, But Accepts Promise of Remittance by Mail.

With a combined capital of $3.65 after return tickets had been paid for, Joseph Brazel and his sister-in-law, Mrs. Mattie Brazel, eloped from Seymour, Ind., yesterday, and were married at the courthouse in Jeffersonville by Magistrate Charles S. Ferguson, who donated his fee to the couple. The license and certificate cost $3, and when Brazel handed out three silver pieces they were so warm from carrying them in his hand that they almost burned the fingers of Miss Mayme Ferguson, a deputy in the office of George W. Badger, Circuit Clerk, who issued the license.

At the time Magistrate Ferguson was at the courthouse and his services were engaged to perform the ceremony, a record vault being used as a wedding parlor. When the ceremony had been concluded Brazel handed the magistrate two quarters.

"You will have to go down deeper than that," said Ferguson.

"How much do you charge?" inquired the bridegroom.

"We never get less than the cost of the license and certificate," was the answer.

"That's three dollars," said Brazel, "and I came away from home without so much money, but I can send you the balance," contended Brazel, while his bride stood by his side and blushed.

By this time Brazel had found three nickels in his well-worn pocketbook and held these out to the Magistrate, saying it was every cent he had.

"Keep your change," said Magistrate Ferguson. "I am a married man myself and know how you would feel on your wedding day without any funds at your command and hungry besides. I am going to give you back the two quarters to get your wedding feast with." The money was returned.

Brazel said he would remit the $3 by the first mail and the couple started back to the depot to wait four hours for the next train bound for Seymour.

According to the records, Brazel was born at Gainsboro, Tenn., in November, 1880, but he could not give the exact date, and is a farmer. The bride, whose maiden name was Mattie Homuncle, was born at Portland, Tenn., July 6, 1881. Several years ago she married a brother of her present husband and he died in 1904. Brazel cannot write, and when he was asked to sign his name to the application for a license he drew from his pocket a rubber stamp and insisted on using it, but was not allowed to do so.

MAY DAY PARADE IN RUSSIAN CAPITAL

UNMARKED BY EXPECTED SCENES OF VIOLENCE.

EVERY BUSINESS PLACE IN CITY PRACTICALLY WAS IDLE.

200,000 MEN TAKE PART.

St. Petersburg, May 14.—The workmen of St. Petersburg to-day made an imposing showing in their May Day celebration. Practically every factory, mill and shop in the city was idle, over 200,000 men joining the demonstration. Early reports from the interior showed that work generally was suspended in the provincial cities of Russia proper. While the leaders here professed their intention to avoid collisions the radical element, which is boycotting Parliament, determined to celebrate the day with manifestations, and the men out of work decided to parade in the industrial sections early in the day with flags bearing inscriptions reading:

"Liberty," and "Work for those out of work."

The gravest fears were entertained that the day would not pass without bloodshed. The chief of police posted notices that no manifestations would be permitted. Large reserves of police armed with rifles were massed in the industrial quarters, and detachments of infantry and cavalry, though they were kept out of sight, were posted at strategic points.

In the evening a crowd of several hundred workmen gathered in the Nevsky Prospect and tried to organize a demonstration, but after being repeatedly dispersed by the police and charged once by the dragoons, they gave up the attempt. No one was injured.

REPLY OF COMMISSION TO EMPEROR'S SPEECH.

May Be Completed At Session To-day Struggle Centers On Agrarian Plank.

St. Petersburg, May 14.—After struggling the whole day until late this evening over a draft of the reply to the speech from the throne, the members of the Commission of the Lower House postponed the final work of phrasing the document until 11 o'clock to-morrow. The prospects are that full accord on several points may not be reached before the opening of the House at 2 o'clock and that therefore the reply may be thrown into the full House for final discussion.

The struggle has centered mainly on the agrarian plank, to which the peasant members found that the recommendation of the Constitutional Democratic convention, though calling for a large measure of forced expropriation were not sweeping enough. The peasants wished the abandonment of most of the limitations and qualifications of the right of expropriation.

RIOTING IN VOLOGDA.

Peasants Stoned Workmen and Governor Is Wounded.

St. Petersburg, May 14.—Telegrams received from many towns in the providences state that the workmen to-day mostly ceased work, but that there were few disturbances except at Vologda, where serious rioting occurred. Peasants stoned workmen, who forced shops and factories to close and shots were fired. An excited crowd rushed to the town hall, which was set on fire. M. Loginski, the Governor, arriving at the scene was wounded, together with many other persons.

Three Strikers Killed.

Sarayevo, Russia, May 14.—A strike has broken out at the Zenica coal and iron works. Strikers to-day attacked the gendarmes with stones and revolvers and the gendarmes returned the fire killing three and wounding five strikers. Troops have been sent to quell the disturbance.

IS IT FOR STAG HOTEL?

ENGLISH KITCHEN SITE SOLD FOR $48,000.

EASTERN CAPITALISTS SAID TO HAVE BEEN PURCHASERS.

AFTER WHAYNE PROPERTY.

The property adjoining the new "Paul Jones" building, on Jefferson street, has been sold, the purchasers being Eastern capitalists, according to report. The sale was made about ten days ago.

The property is the site where the English Kitchen was located, and was owned by Mrs. Pamela Beattie, of this city. The negotiations were carried on by C. E. Boswell, acting for the new owners, and Daniel F. Murphy, of the Fidelity Trust Co., acting for Mrs. Beattie. The sale price was reported to be $48,000.

It is known that an attempt was made a few days ago to get an option on some of the property immediately to the west of this piece, which is owned by the Whayne estate, the purpose being to build a ten-story stag hotel. The representative of the Whayne estate refused to entertain any proposition whatever, it is said. This sale, however, gives color to a report that has been circulated that a stag hotel was to be built on this square, and notwithstanding the fact that the property is only 30x210 feet, it may be that a hotel of this description will be built on this lot in spite of its narrow frontage.

It was reported some time ago when it became necessary to destroy and remove the English Kitchen on account of the excavations for the skyscraper on the corner that the property would be bought by the Jones brothers, but their counsel, W. W. Watts, said last night that he knew nothing about the sale of this property to the Messrs. Jones.

Declines Secretaryship.

Nashville, Tenn., May 14.—Mrs. John O. Rust, of this city, widow of the late Rev. John O. Coffee Hurts One In Three

It is difficult to make people believe that coffee is an absolute poison to at least one person out of every three, but people are slowly finding it out, although thousands of them suffer terribly before they discover the fact.

A New York hotel man says: "Each time after drinking coffee I became restless, nervous and excited, so that I was unable to sit five minutes in one place, was also inclined to vomit and suffered from loss of sleep, which got worse and worse.

"A lady said that perhaps coffee was the cause of my trouble, and suggested that I try Postum Food Coffee. I laughed at the thought that coffee hurt me, but she insisted so hard that I finally had some Postum made. I have been using it in place of coffee ever since, for I noticed that all my former nervousness and irritation disappeared, I began to sleep perfectly, and the Postum tasted as good or better than the old coffee, so what was the use of sticking to a beverage that was ruining me?

"One day on an excursion up the country I remarked to a young lady friend on her greatly improved appearance. She explained that some time before she had quit using coffee and taken Postum. She had gained a number of pounds and her former palpitation of the heart, humming in the ears, trembling of the hands and legs and other disagreeable feelings had disappeared. She recommended me to quit coffee and take Postum, and was very much surprised to find that I had already made the change.

"She said her brother had also received great benefits from leaving off coffee and taking on Postum Food Coffee."

"There's a reason."

MRS. HARDY IN EARNEST

Early Applied For Position as Postmistress.

Endorsed Yesterday By the Daughters of Confederacy.

Has Been to Washington in Interest of Place.

CANDIDATES TAKE NOTICE.

"Yes, I am a candidate for the Louisville postmastership," said Mrs. Sallie Marshall Hardy last evening when asked as to the authenticity for yesterday afternoon's dispatches from Washington. "I don't know how it is looked upon elsewhere, but I am in earnest. I put in my application early in the contest although I do not see how your man at Washington missed it. I have been on to Washington and have done what I could to have my application considered. I have asked no indorsement and, until to-day, have received none."

When it became known to-day that Mrs. Hardy was in the race for the postmastership, the members of the association, Daughters of the Confederacy, of which Mrs. Hardy is a leading member, became interested at the regular meeting of Albert Sidney Johnston Chapter yesterday afternoon, the chapter adopted a resolution instructing the secretary to inform the President and the Postmaster General that Mrs. Hardy had been indorsed by 525 Kentucky women. Mrs. Andrew Broaddus is president of the chapter, and Mrs. Basil Duke is an officer. Mrs. Hardy is a former officer of the chapter and a former State officer of the organization. She received the unanimous indorsement of the members of the chapter.

Much Interest At Customhouse.

At the Customhouse yesterday afternoon, the news that Mrs. Hardy had announced her candidacy for the position was received with much interest. There was some disposition to believe that she was not serious or that the dispatch was erroneous, but it was not treated as a joke. Some of the Federal officers expressed it as their opinion that it wouldn't be likely that the President would appoint a woman to a political position of such importance, especially in the present situation. The appointment of two other women to the Louisville office in the past was cited as evidence that a woman could do the work well. Mrs. Lucy D. Porter, in the early seventies, and later, Mrs. Virginia Campbell Thompson, are remembered as having made careful and efficient postmasters.

In Washington, the complexity of the Louisville situation and the delay in taking up the candidacy of the several aspirants is taken as a good omen in the case of Mrs. Hardy. They appear to think that her appointment would be the best way to cut the Gordian knot and continually find some hope in the very tangle. Her friends in Washington are said to be very enthusiastic in her behalf, and are backing her application with expressions of their belief in her ability to discharge the duties of the office in a thorough and competent manner.

* * *

Member of Distinguished Family.

Mrs. Hardy is a member of a family that has had its distinguished representatives in the public service, the greatest of these being Chief Justice John Marshall.

She is pretty well known to the people in the postoffice. She often has occasion to go there to buy stamps, and has been such an interested inquirer at the stamp window as to the status of the postmastership that now, when she goes, the man at the window speaks up and tells her that nothing has been heard from headquarters. Mrs. Hardy said yesterday afternoon that he did not know she was a candidate, and that it would be rather embarrassing for her to call at the window after this.

Instructions Given Inspectors.

Judge W. G. Dearing, Surveyor of the Port, yesterday afternoon instructed his two appointees, Paul Mitchell and Haynes Carter, as to the nature of their duties as excursion inspectors. The season, which will last for about ninety days, opens this morning, and the two men go on duty this morning. They were instructed to observe closely the law in the matter of the loading of excursion boats, and on no condition to permit overcrowding. Judge Dearing said yesterday afternoon that he was determined the laws should be enforced. He expects nothing in the way of attempted evasion on the part of the boatmen, but says that if it is necessary to make any arrests, he will make an example of the first offender that is found guilty.

THREE PIECES OF PROPERTY SOLD AT AUCTION.

The Columbia Finance and Trust Company, acting as agent for the Buchanan estate, sold three pieces of property yesterday afternoon at auction, with Hardy Burton and T. H. Whayne as auctioneers. The property at Washington and Pocahontas streets, consisting of six cottages, brought $1,400; the lot at Washington and Buchanan streets, with seven cottages, brought $2,750, and the two-story double brick at Washington and Wenzel streets brought $2,655.

JACOB BOSSUNG DIES OF MENINGITIS.

Jacob Bossung, an engraver, fifty-one years of age, died of meningitis at the City Hospital last night at 7 o'clock. He had been at the institution since May 8. He was unmarried. He has a brother, F. C. Bossung, a mail-carrier, who lives at 304 East St. Catherine street.

Fire Causes $500 Damage.

Fire of unknown origin caused a loss estimated at $500 in the grocery and general store of H. Krome, Eleventh and Madison streets, shortly after 9 o'clock last night. Mr. Krome has been ill for some time and with his wife and daughter was out riding. He did not return until after the flames had been extinguished.

Long and Overman amendments, yet that your amendment was entirely satisfactory. Your amendment does not in the slightest degree weaken or injure the Hepburn Bill. It merely expresses what the friends have always asserted was implied by the terms of the bill. I may add, that my own opinion that your amendment in no way changed, whether by diminishing or enlarging the scope of the court review, as provided in the original Hepburn Bill, is also the opinion of the Attorney General, of Mr. Root and of Mr. Taft. Their judgment is that the amendment merely avoids the criticism that the Hepburn Bill would be constitutionally invalid in not expressly providing the court review which its supporters have always contended was plainly implied in the original language.

The original Hepburn Bill stated that the venue for certain actions was in certain courts; the amendment states that these courts shall have jurisdiction to consider such actions. To my mind it seems difficult to assert that this works any change whatever in the principle of the bill. Yours sincerely,

THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

Attorney General's Letter.

The Attorney General's letter to the President:

Office of the Attorney General, Washington, D. C., May 14.—My Dear Mr. President: I send at your request an account of the conferences which I had, by your direction, with Senators Tillman and Bailey upon the subject of the court review feature of the pending rate legislation.

On April 14 you told me that Messrs Tillman and Bailey had communicated with you through a third person, informing you that they were willing to support an amendment to the Hepburn Bill, which while expressly conferring jurisdiction upon the courts to review the action of the commission, should limit the review to the two questions of the authority of the Commission and the constitutionality of its action and include a provision forbidding the issuance of interlocutory injunctions. You told me that they were not willing to confer directly with you, but would meet me. You asked me if I thought that Congress had the power to prohibit the issuance of interlocutory injunctions by courts inferior to the Supreme Court, and I told you that having read part only of the debate upon that question, the subject being new to me, I had not formed a final opinion. You then asked me whether if such a provision were declared unconstitutional it would affect other provisions of the law. I told you that in my opinion it would not, as that provision would be easily separable from the remainder of the law.

Recalling the advice which I had the honor to offer to you, that you should not at any stage become finally committed beyond recall to any form of language in any part of the bill, and affirming your belief in the wisdom of that course, you then said that a provision limiting the court review to the authority of the commission and the constitutionality of its acts and a provision limiting the issuance of interlocutory injunctions, as far as was constitutionally possible, would be acceptable to you, provided it was decided not to try to pass the Hepburn Bill substantially unchanged, and you asked me to meet the gentlemen named in conference.

* * *

The Conference.

The conference was arranged by Mr. Chandler and occurred on April 15. It was full and free. It would be impossible to state all that was said in a conference of two hours, but I think no false color is given to the conference by the following statement:

I informed the gentlemen of my belief that you desired, if the scope of the court review were to be expressed in the law at all, that it should be limited to the two subjects hereinbefore named; that in such case the so-called Long amendment was acceptable to you; that you would be glad to see a rigid limitation on the issuance of interlocutory injunctions; if such limitations were possible; and I stated further that I would not assume to agree to any form of language whatever for you, but would submit any proposed amendment to you for your consideration. I also stated my doubt whether in any event it would be possible to enact a provision entirely forbidding interlocutory injunctions. I found myself in entire accord with Senator Bailey as to the rules of constitutional law applicable to the situation, with the exception of those relating to the power of Congress to forbid all interlocutory injunctions, upon which I did not offer any final opinion, only saying that Mr. Bailey's argument needed in answer. An attempt was then made to adopt phraseology which would effect the intention of the two Senators. I made some notes upon this branch of the subject, and at the close of the interview said to Senator Bailey that I would put my understanding of their views upon the question of phraseology in writing, send it to him, and if it met with his approval, submit it to you.

* * *

This I did, and on the next day sent the annexed memorandum to Mr. Bailey, inclosed in a letter which read as follows:

"April 16, 1906.—My Dear Senator: This rough draft is as I understood your suggestions of yesterday. I think it quite likely that this draft might be bettered, but I simply send it to see if I understand you. Very truly yours, W. H. MOODY."

"Hon. Joseph W. Bailey, United States Senate."

The draft referred to is the one printed in last Saturday's Record.

The conference among the Democratic members of the Senate then occurred, the press reports of which indicated that there was not an entire agreement among them. Mr. Tillman, however, called to assure me that the prospects of an agreement among a large number of the Democratic Senators was good. I heard nothing further from Senator Bailey until a later date. I informed you of what occurred at the interview between the two Senators and me, and you told me that you had been informed from various Democratic sources that an agreement among the Democrats upon any amendment would be impossible.

Memorandum To Bailey.

The two Senators called upon me again on the 23d or 24th of April. There was some further talk about the form of the amendment. The suggestion was made that it might be possible, after voting upon the provision forbidding all interlocutory injunctions, to agree upon an amendment which should include the Long amendment, and what has been known as the Overman amendment. I then said that in my opinion any amendment drawn by anyone representing the executive branch of the Government, even though it were inspired from heaven, would not be accepted, without change, by the Senate. That that attitude was natural and proper, and that if the exact language of an amendment which could be adopted should be agreed upon, it ought to be drawn by the Senators themselves. I suggested Senator Allison as a proper person for further conference and the matter, so far as I was concerned, ended there.

I remember hearing nothing more of it until I was just about taking the train for North Carolina on May 4, when I was informed by Mr. Tillman and Mr. Chandler that you had approved another amendment known as the Allison amendment. There was nothing in the conversations between the Senators and me which in any way bound you to any particular amendment or in the slightest degree impaired your liberty at any time to acquiesce in any amendment which you should deem expedient and in the public interest. Very respectfully,

WILLIAM H. MOODY, Attorney General.

NO QUORUM

House Postpones Action On District Bills.

GAINES AND BABCOCK DISCUSS FREE PASSES.

BOTH DECLARE THAT THEY WILL PAY THEIR OWN WAY.

TENNESSEE'S ANTI-PASS LAW.

Washington, May 14.—The House had under consideration to-day bills relating to the government of the District of Columbia. It completed the bill's reorganizing the Washington public school system.

The House adjourned, the absence of a quorum postponing action on the bill under consideration. These bills will be taken up to-morrow.

During the day an exceedingly interesting colloquy occurred between Messrs. Gaines, Tennessee, and Babcock, Wisconsin.

Mr. Gaines inquired: "Why do we sit here like a lot of cowards and raise everybody else's salary and not raise our own?"

Mr. Sims, Tennessee: "Because we want to come back here." (Laughter.)

Mr. Gaines continued: "We are a lot of moral cowards not to raise our own salaries. A whole lot of us get a whole lot more than we ought to have and others do not get enough. Of course, a lot of people are opposed to it just as a lot of people were opposed to the passage of the law against members riding on railroad passes and on this question of passes——"

* * *

Mr. Babcock Wants To Know.

"Will the gentleman kindly advise the House where these passes can be obtained?" interjected Mr. Babcock.

Mr. Gaines: "I do not know. I never asked for any, but I do not know of anybody who knows more about free passes than the gentleman from Wisconsin."

Mr. Babcock: "I have no pass and pay for every mile I ride. If there is a place where we can get them I would be glad to have my colleagues know."

Mr. Gaines disclaimed any knowledge of the whereabouts of free passes and then proceeded to discuss the violation of the anti-pass law in Tennessee.

"A great railroad man told me he had issued a free pass to every Federal Judge in my district," said Mr. Gaines. "And all had kept them except one and he used to be a member of Congress. He had given every member of the Legislature a free pass and they all kept them, as had the Governor. I told him it was contrary to law and asked him why he did it and he said his company felt it had to."

Mr. Babcock replid that he was very sorry the gentleman from Tennessee had failed to tell the House where transportation could be procured.

Mr. Gaines: "It is in your pocket, like it is in mine. That is all I ever used, my own money."

* * *

He Pays the Freight.

Mr. Babcock: "There is no transportation in my pocket. I always pay my own way in the trains and in the street cars."

Mr. Gaines: "Have you always done that?"

Mr. Babcock: "Not always."

Mr. Gaines: "Then I am a little ahead of the gentleman; I'm no saint (laughter); I am satisfied that when the time comes he will vote to cut off free passes issued to the judiciary and members of Congress."

Mr. Babcock stated that in 1889 he had introduced an anti-pass bill in the Wisconsin Legislature, but had failed. Later Wisconsin passed an anti-pass law and he thought his State was the first in the Union to cut off free transportation.

Mr. Gaines said that free passes were cut out in Tennessee in 1887, but the railroads went right along issuing free passes notwithstanding.

Mr. Babcock: "The gentleman will not find the railroads in Wisconsin issuing passes outside of their own employes."

SECOND WEDDING

GIRL TWICE MARRIED WHEN EIGHTEEN YEARS OLD.

Three Eloping Couples Married By Magistrates In Jeffersonville.

Married before she was seventeen, divorced last Tuesday, Mrs. Lieuteshia Logsdon, who will not be nineteen for two months lacking one day, was married in Jeffersonville yesterday by Magistrate Charles S. Ferguson to Lester Smith, who is barely twenty-one years old. In securing her divorce Mrs. Smith was restored to her maiden name and she declined to say what the name of her former husband was, remarking that she had paid to take the name of her parents. She said she did not get along pleasantly with her first husband and decided to get a legal separation. She is a daughter of Stamper Logsdon, who lives at 2123 West Market street, Louisville, and Smith has been boarding with the family.

Mr. Smith and Mrs. Logsdon were accompanied by Anton Hartlauf and Miss Elva Branch, who acted as attendants. Mrs. Logsdon and Miss Branch were attired in white and each wore a bountiful bouquet of flowers. Hartlauf made the affidavit that the applicants were of legal age to marry. Smith is a native of Mead county, Ky., where he was born on April 3, 1885. He has no regular occupation. The bride was born in Hart county, Ky., July 13, 1887, and her father is a retired farmer, who has moved to Louisville to enjoy life on what he has accumulated.

Elopers Return Undaunted.

Francis Ritchie and Miss Fannie Taylor, of Bourbon county, who went to Jeffersonville Sunday afternoon in a carriage to get married and were not granted a license because it was believed they were too young, returned yesterday afternoon and met with better success. Sunday evening they went back to Paris, Ky., on an excursion train and laid their troubles before William Florence, who agreed to accompany them to Jeffersonville, where he made an affidavit they were of age, and Magistrate Benjamin T. Nixon performed the ceremony, the application they filled out Sunday being used. Ritchie was born September 20, 1883, and Miss Taylor April 25, 1880. They are both natives of Bourbon county.

Succeed Second Time.

Joseph A. Wilson and Miss Catherine C. Reid, both of Louisville, were married in Jeffersonville late Sunday night by Magistrate Benjamin J. Ferguson. Wilson said he made the trip two weeks before, but could not find Magistrate Ferguson and went back. Wilson was born at Augusta, Ga., September 22, 1865, and is a machinist. The bride gave her place of nativity as Kentucky and the date of her birth as June 10, 1867. Her occupation is that of a seamstress. They were accompanied by Vitula Hart, who insisted on making an affidavit that the two were of age.

FIX THE DATE

For Twelfth International Sunday-School Convention

GREAT MEETING TO BE HELD HERE IN JUNE, 1908.

LOCAL COMMITTEE BEGINS PREPARATIONS EARLY.

PLANS BEING CONSIDERED.

The twelfth International Sunday-school Convention will be held in Louisville five days during the third and the fourth weeks in June of 1908. The decision to hold the meeting at that time was the first decisive step taken by the local Committee on Arrangements, which, with W. N. Hartshorn, of Boston, chairman of the International Executive Committee, and Marion Lawrance, general secretary of the International Association, met in the lecture-room of the Second Presbyterian church, Second and Broadway, last night. These five days probably will be from Thursday, June 18, to Tuesday, June 23, although the settling of the definite days has been left with the International Executive Committee.

Mr. Lawrance, who has had much experience in the holding of conventions, outlined a plan for the conducting of the meeting, going largely into detail. Mr. Hartshorn, in a general way, suggested a provisional outline for the programme, among other things, suggesting that one day of the convention be called "layman's day," and given over wholly to the laymen of the churches who, he said, more especially in the South than in the North, are prominent in business as well as church affairs. For this day he intimated that it would be possible to obtain the consent of John Wanamaker and H. J. Heintz, both of whom are widely known Sunday-school workers, to be present and deliver addresses. In his talk to the committee and those pastors and Sunday-school workers who were present, he urged, above all other things, that it is vitally important that the preparations be begun at once.

The meeting was called to order at 8 o'clock by John Stites, who, as chairman of the local Committee on Arrangements, presided. In a few words he outlined the purpose of the meeting and introduced Mr. Lawrance, who had come from Toledo at the request of the local committeemen, to counsel them as to the tried methods of preparing for and taking care of such a large body of visitors.

* * *

Suggests Subcommittees.

He urged the importance of immediate organization of the local committee, suggesting that there should be a vice chairman, a secretary, a treasurer and an assistant secretary or stenographer. He emphasized the importance of selecting the best men available to head the various subcommittees. He made countless suggestions as to the methods of procedure and suggested that the following thirteen subcommittees should be appointed, their nature and their duties being suggested by their names:

Entertainment, reception, finance, transportation, halls and decoration, music, ushers, page, press, printing and publicity, information, pulpit and Sunday-school supply, exhibit and general comfort.

Mr. Lawrance then proceeded to elaborate in detail on the duties of the several committees. Speaking of the duties of the entertainment committee, he said:

"It will be needful for you to decide on the plan of entertainment. The Harvard plan is the one usually now adopted and provides entertainment and breakfast only. I do not know what you may have considered." He looked toward Mr. Stites:

"We are pledged to the Kentucky plan. That includes everything."

* * *

Urges Immediate Action.

Mr. Hartshorn plunged at once into getting something definite done so that he would be able to tell of it as he goes on his way about the country attending Sunday-school gatherings. He then spoke of the day for the convening of the great body be at once decided. It was at first suggested that the latter part of May, when Kentucky is at its best in the spring, would be a good time to hold the gathering, but when it was said that that would deter many school people from attending, the suggestion was abandoned. The fourth international convention, which met in Louisville in 1884, twenty-four years ago, was held June 11 and 12.

June 18 then was suggested, and the time later was changed to the third and fourth week in the month. No objection was heard to the arrangement and it was allowed to stand.

Mr. Hartshorn called for suggestions for the general theme of the convention. That at the Toronto convention last year was "Winning a Generation." Many suggestions were made, all of which Mr. Hartshorn took under consideration. He told of the progress he had made in the building of the programme of the convention. He wants to have a "pastors' day," at which 2,000 Southern pastors will be present. He wants some time devoted to the consideration of the adult Bible-class movement. He spoke at some length on "layman's day," and spoke of having one day devoted to the subject of missions.

* * *

Suggests Race Problem.

Among the suggestions was one from the Rev. Dr. Peyton H. Hoge, who suggested that the South's great race problem might be taken up and discussed "eye to eye." Mr. Hartshorn took the opportunity to say that the Northern members of the convention would not in any way antagonize the Southern members as to their position on the race question. The meeting was concluded with the singing of the doxology.

At a meeting of the Central Committee immediately following, a meeting for the visiting officers of the convention and the members of the local Executive Committee, was arranged to be held at the offices of Mr. Stites to-day at noon. Both Mr. Hartshorn and Mr. Lawrance were prevailed upon to stay in the city so that they might be present at that meeting when the subjects discussed last night will be gone over more in detail. Mr. Hartshorn came here from Hot Springs and will go on to Cincinnati, and from there to Dayton, at all of which places he attends Sunday-school meetings.

SOME WORK FIFTEEN HOURS A DAY.

Charles Peetz and J. D. Bradburn, a committee of two appointed by the Louisville Federation of Labor to ascertain how many hours a day the men employed on Government work at the canal and the Marine Hospital are required to work, have completed their investigation, and submitted their report.

The investigation was made at the instigation of the American Federation of Labor, which is having the same work done all over the country.

According to the report of Messrs. Peetz and Bradburn, some of the men employed at the canal, and at the Marine Hospital, work fourteen and fifteen hours a day.

"Business."

Monday Evening, May 14.—The New York market opened strong and advanced sharply in the forenoon, reacted in the afternoon and closed generally lower.

Call money was easy at 3 to 3½ per cent., ruling at 3½. Time loans were dull at 5 to 5⅜. Sterling exchange was steady.

The Chicago wheat market was up ⅛c to ¼c. Corn was ⅛c higher, and oats were up ⅛c to ⅜c.

The cotton market opened at an advance of 1 to 3 points, fluctuated within narrow limits and closed about 7 points higher than the opening.

The Chicago cattle market was steady to 10c lower, the hog market steady to slow, and the sheep market strong.

Democracy To the Rescue.

All things are said to come to him who waits. "Governor Bob," as ex-Governor Taylor, of Tennessee is affectionately called, has the Senatorship at last. His claim was great; and it has been long denied. His popularity was great; and, wherever he went, it was bound to be greater. He is an eloquent, a most scholarly and accomplished man, who may be expected to make his mark at Washington and to become one of the observed of all observers. It is a pity that his well-won triumph should have been achieved at the cost of a Knight so valiant and chivalric, so puissant and so meritorious, as the yet undaunted and still unhorsed Carmack, who, in a note to the people of Tennessee, addressed on the eve of his departure for Washington, says:

"I accept without bitterness or complaint the verdict of the Democratic party. I should, of course, have been pleased if my course in the Senate could have won its approval instead of its disapproval, but I am sustained by the consciousness that to the best of my ability I have faithfully served the people of Tennessee.

"I shall go back into private life with no revenges to gratify, no enemies to punish, but with a heart full of gratitude to as faithful a band of friends as any man ever had. I owe to them a debt I can never repay, but they can command from me any effort or any sacrifice for the rest of my life.

"I shall not cease to take an interest in public affairs or in questions that concern the public welfare and the cause of clean and honest government, and while I shall be only a Democratic voter, I shall be still a Democrat."

There is no downing a man like this. Like the "Tall Sycamore of the Wabash," whom he closely resembles, and who often faced defeat, but never obscuration, the brilliant Carmack will not long remain in retirement. Tennessee cannot afford to lose such a man out of her National representation. Nor can the Democratic party. Radical in his opinions, but seasoned in his experience, loved by all who know him in spite of differences of opinion, Senator Carmack, like Senator Voorhees, will come back more radiant for a momentary eclipse. Such men as he were not made for private life—they were born to great public station and usefulness.

"Shake."

Says the Louisville Herald:

"Always glad to welcome support to the right, from any side or from any source, the Herald views with pleasure the adoption by the Courier-Journal of the following civic platform, taken almost verbatim et literatim from the Herald's reiterated demands for restored public rights and bettered civic government in Louisville. The Courier-Journal joins the Herald in demanding:

"The honest and frugal disposition of the city's resources.

"The divorcement of the police from politics.

"The subjection of the lawless elements to some respect for law.

"The reduction of the disorderly to a decent observance of public opinion and public morality.

"The restoration, if need be, the recreation of such conditions as will secure the people free and fair elections.

"The exemption of the citizenry of Louisville from corrupt and corrupting influences in their municipal legislation.

"Not a plank, indeed, in this truly admirable platform but of the good, sound timber, supplied from the Herald's forest reserves, sawn and dressed in the Herald's mills."

We cannot recall the time when the Courier-Journal did not stand on the platform quoted; but, if the Herald thinks it has wrought the spell and the fancy pleases it, we shall rest well content.

Now let the Herald unite with the Courier-Journal in keeping close but honest watch and guard over all that 's nonpartisan of our Municipal life—whereon two good citizens may agree—and join us in cultivating not only a public spirit founded on a manly and amiable effort toward the development and progress of the city, but toward the elevation of a spirit of journalism too broad and high for the jackals and the grafters of the guild, and all shall be well, the goose alike of the Herald and the Courier-Journal hanging away up in the air!

Another Dred Scott Decision.

As might have been foreseen, the President, brought face to face with the issue of his own preference and a breach in his party, obtains the best terms he can for himself, and holds to his party.

There has never been a time when he would or could have made common cause with the Democrats. That he might was a mirage of Democratic optimism. With the fate of Grover Cleveland in the matter of the Silver contention before his eyes, he must inevitably have seen little short of shipwreck in that direction, immediate disaster for the Administration and for the party, if not ruin, yet the beginning of embittered and hopeless division.

That Mr. Aldrich has played his hand skillfully, even mercilessly, the Tillman lead, in the outset a master-stroke, whilst holding the good but still puissant Allison in reserve, and his best cards close to his bosom for the final coup, is merely to say that the Rhode Island Senator is no amateur; because, from the professional point of view and from the first, he had all the advantages which, in gambling, are known to belong to "the house." The President stood for the occasion in the attitude of a rank outsider. To the regular Republicans of the Senate, as far as the Rate Bill went, he was "the entire stranger," to be wheedled, or drugged, as the case might require, but in any and every event, to be fleeced.

What can one man do—though he be President—against fifty, or an hundred men? What could Jackson have done without Benton? It is no reproach to Mr. Lodge to say that he is not a Benton, nor Massachusetts Missouri. To be entirely just we must not forget, that, between the White House and the Rate Bill, there stood and there stands Massachusetts. Whilst conceding a deal of enlightened and independent thinking in Massachusetts, the Old Bay State is Republican to the core. Mr. Roosevelt was mistaken when he said that, on the issue of the Rate Bill, he could beat Mr. Lodge before his own people; that is, in case he ever said anything of the kind. Mr. Chandler thought the like of New Hampshire, and see what came of his misconception.

Assuredly, the outcome is disappointing to those who looked for an adequate measure of relief and expected the President to "go the whole hog or die." The Courier-Journal has at no time deluded itself with any such hope. "Blessed are those who expect nothing," the homely saying hath it, "for they shall not be disappointed." Readers of these columns will bear witness that we have at no time fallen in with the notion that Mr. Roosevelt was "coming over to the Democrats," but have at all times rated him as an out-and-out, dyed-in-the-wool, true-blue Republican. Nevertheless, though we get nothing to speak of in the Rate Bill, and though the various Trust investigations come to nothing, the country will owe a great debt to Theodore Roosevelt. He has done in a day, as it were, what no other man could have done in a decade; brought the people to a realizing sense of the existence and operations of that insidious power, which has been, ever since the War of Sections, stealthily intrenching itself at Washington, and reaching thence into the Manufacturing Districts and the Money Centers, and slowly but surely preparing to replace the Oligarchy of African Slavery with the Oligarchy of Organized Money.

In other words, Theodore Roosevelt has clearly revealed to us the new Irrepressible Conflict. The Republican party stands to this New Irrepressible Conflict precisely where the Democratic party stood to the old, the sectional relations reversed; for, whereas the Slave Power dominating the Government had its lodgment in the South, the Money Power now dominating it has its lodgment in the North and East. It was Jackson, a Democrat and a Southern man, who first defied the extremists of his party under Calhoun and drew the people close about the Union. It is Roosevelt, a Northern man and a Republican, who raises his hand against the extremists of his party, under the lead of Aldrich, forgetting the interests of the many to minister to the greed of the few. Jackson deferred the War of Sections many a year. Whether Roosevelt stays the onward sweep of the Money Power or not, he lifts the discussion out of the realm of mere agrarian agitation and places it upon the altitude at least of experimental statesmanship.

The Democrats may not be prepared yet to take the work in hand. That remains to be seen. That will depend much upon the influences which prevail over the rank and file of the party. Mr. Bailey, of Texas, seeming just now best equipped for leadership. But the battle is on, and from this to its close it will be less and less a contest between the Militia and the Regulars.

Just as surely as the Slavery issue split the Democratic party in twain, will the Money issue split the Republican party in twain. The Republican party is wedded to the Protective System precisely as the Democratic party was wedded to the Slave System. Slavery existed by law. It was protected by the Constitution. The Democratic party was the party of law, the party of the Constitution, and hence it defended slavery and became the party of Slavery. When at last, impelled not only by the trend of modern thought the world over, but by the aggressive spirit of the Slave oligarchy of the South, the moral sense of the North—the stronger section—rose in revolt, down went the Democratic party, and along with it, down went African Slavery. Mark, the reverse of the shield; money, property, whether the offspring of the Trust or the Tariff, is recognized by the Constitution and the law; the Republican party is the party of law and order; the Republican party is the party of the Constitution; the Republican party has the Congress to enact, the President to enforce and the Supreme Court to find the law for them—as had the old Democratic party in the days of Pierce and Buchanan—and when the Money Power, grown arrogant like the Slave Power, issues its orders to muster its slaves, not beneath the shadow of Bunker Hill monument, but under the dome of the Senate Chamber at Washington, why, they muster; and, as we see, though Roosevelt thunder from the White House, there is no Benton to answer in the Senate; and—and—why—

"Down goes McGinty
To the bottom of the sea."

No leader can successfully lead against the grain of his party. The old Democratic party could not escape the Slavery Issue. The Republican party cannot escape the Money Issue. The President is merely an able, patriotic Republican, who, seeing the danger, would avert it; but, like those Union men of the South who opposed secession and foresaw and foretold its consequences, fell into line and fought bravely for the Confederacy when the debate was ended and war was at hand, Theodore Roosevelt cannot escape his belongings, his environment, and the convictions and prejudices of a lifetime. Democrats are foolish to expect it. Disinterested and thoughtful people, who differ from him in opinions and would be glad to see him throw himself headlong into the abyss, not only do not expect it, but they will understand why he does not, and appreciate, if they do not entirely justify, his reasons.

Touching the incidental issue of veracity between the President and ex-Senator Chandler, we say nothing; the two are much alike in ardor of temperament and aggressiveness of character; each is an intense partisan and a good fighter; and, we prefer to think, nay, we do think, that both are honorable and truthful men, whose personal difference in such a matter is regretable, but not important. The lot of the mutual friend, like that of the constabulary, is not a happy one. Frictions of the kind are always likely to happen where lines are closely drawn. They stir up the animals and help enthusiasts to make their case. But they cut no figure in results.

Two forces are ever behind the motors of Government; the few, seeking privilege, the many seeking justice; each atom more or less the unwilling creature of its setting in the general autonomy. The Irrepressible Conflict between Freedom and Slavery was the offspring of irreconcilable conditions, the War of Sections inevitable. The Irrepressible Conflict between Money and Morals is equally so. It can only end with the complete triumph of the Masses over the Classes, involving the regeneration of our commercialized politics, and the lifting of the people to sublimer heights than they have ever yet occupied, or a close, compact, imperialized despotism under Republican nomenclature, the purse and the sword, working together toward the familiar historic spectacle of ultimate ruin and decay.

It is the opinion of the Courier-Journal that the happier destiny awaits our country, though we congratulate Mr. Aldrich, and his Dred Scott people, on a victory which is likely to cost them dear.

The Color Question Rises.

The color question is always bobbing up, but perhaps few anticipated that it would come before the General Assembly which meets this week at Des Moines, Ia. It is what is properly known as the Northern General Assembly, though that is not its official name. Heretofore it has got along all right with the colored brother, but there is a prospect now that he may be the subject of some controversy.

The proposed absorption of the Cumberland Presbyterian church brings with it certain impossibilities. That church has its membership chiefly in the South and West. It has, therefore, been deemed expedient to permit the formation of separate negro presbyteries and synods, but the General Assembly is common to all. But the hotel proprietors in Des Moines have decided that they will not entertain a colored man, even if he is a commissioner to the General Assembly. The General Assembly is not responsible for that, but it raises a troublesome question which it will be hard to keep out. Many of the commissioners hold their meetings in the hotels, and these often include informal dinners. From these, according to the order, the negroes will be excluded, and there is much apprehension as to what will be done about it.

This is one of the last places where one might have expected that the color line would be drawn in the North. The General Assembly is not to blame for it, but the question what it will do about it, if anything, has a degree of interest which cannot entirely be separated from the proposed consolidation of two churches.

"The" Congress and "Congress."

It is to "the" Congress that the President recommends appropriate resolutions in recognition of foreign tenders of aid and sympathy for the American earthquake sufferers; it is to "the" Congress that he addresses his other messages, and it is to "the" Congress that he alludes when he has occasion to mention at any time the law-making body of the National Government. In this the President differs from the majority of people, who have formed the habit of dropping the definite article and saying merely "Congress." The President adopts the terms employed in the Constitution, which, after asserting that "all legislative power herein granted shall be vested in a Congress of the United States," refers to the body invariably as "the Congress." This form, in view of its origin, is the better of the two; it could be supported as the preferable on grammatical grounds, moreover. It would be gratifying to sticklers for literalness to see it more widely used. However, usage brings the popular form, "Congress," into good repute. A minute analysis of the latter suggests another defense than that of usage, and this is in its definition, as distinguished from the definition of "the Congress." In waiving the prefix "the," the masses have changed the word "Congress" from a capitalized common noun into a proper noun. From a word signifying an assembly it has become one symbolizing a source of legislative power. There are both distinction and difference here, although the first persons to use the more familiar form may not have intended either. Such defenses as those advanced—those of usage and interpretation—still do not serve to make "Congress" as desirable as "the Congress." The Constitution aside, it is always safe to say "the" Congress just as it is always unsafe to say "Legislature." No one would dream of saying "Legislature."

In this connection it is pertinent to make note of the common practice of applying the word "Congressman" to a member of the House of Representatives, to distinguish him from a member of the Senate. It is true that a Representative is a Congressman, but so, too, is a Senator. The proper way is to call a member of the lower House a Representative and save the word Congressman for use as a general term. The American people might well be more careful in this respect.

Telephones and Monopolies.

A vigorous telephone fight has been begun in New York. The Atlantic Telephone Company has appeared before the Board of Estimate and asked for a franchise. Representatives of the New York Telephone Company were present in large numbers to oppose the grant, and the argument was very spirited. A delay of a week was obtained for the purpose of presenting briefs. Among the numerous persons who appeared for the Atlantic Telephone Company was Mr. Joshua D. Powers, of Louisville.

The argument was begun by ex-Controller Grout, representing the New York Company. This argument, in substance, was that a telephone for a city is necessarily a monopoly. He was unable to find any economic writer who did not hold that competition in telephone service was a detriment. The telephone is no good to you, he said, unless you can reach all the other people who have telephones. The introduction of a new company means that you will be able to reach a less number of people. Many people will be compelled to put in two telephones. A nuisance will result, two bells ringing all the time, and two bills to pay instead of one. The cost to the patrons of both will be greater than for one. If competition is a good thing, why confine it to two? There were six companies trying to get into the city. The introduction of a new one would mean a consolidation sooner or later. Government ownership is a growing doctrine, and perhaps the city will decide to own its telephone service. If so, it will have to purchase two services instead of one.

A letter from the Merchants' Association was filed, substantially declaring in favor of one company, with public control. It set out that all public service corporations should be under public control; that they should not be allowed to exact from the public more than the amount necessary to make a reasonable return on the capital actually employed, and a reasonable reserve for contingencies; that franchises ought not to be capitalized; that capitalization based on prospective profits should be prevented, and when the net earnings exceed a definite limit the rates of charge to the public should be reduced. The New York Telephone Company had signified its willingness to limit its net earnings to 10 per cent. on the capital necessarily employed. Various statements from Mayors of cities were filed, in which the duplication of the telephone service was deprecated.

When Mr. Littleton, representing the Atlantic Company, got the floor, he was asked why it was that the Mayors of so many cities had gone on record against two telephone systems.

"I had not intended to refer to that matter," said Mr. Littleton, "as I did not intend to make charges of bad faith, but the Mayor of Grand Rapids, to whom Mr. Grout has referred, retired as Mayor of that city years ago, and has been dead for three years, while the Mayor of Atlanta, Ga., to whom he referred, has been dead, also, for some time. I have here a telegram from the present Mayor of Grand Rapids praising two systems highly." Mr. Littleton also quoted a law forbidding the city of New York from contracting with a company that had defaulted in its payments, and therefore held that the city could make no agreement with the New York Telephone Company. It was objected that the payments were due from the Empire City Subway Company, but it was admitted that the New York Telephone Company held a majority of the stock of that company, and was therefore responsible for its acts. Mr. Littleton also pointed out that at the end of twenty-five years the city would get the property of the Atlantic Company free of charge, and therefore the argument that the city would have to acquire two services fell to the ground. He also offered to give a bond that his company would never merge with the New York Telephone Company. The Atlantic Company is willing to pay three millions for a twenty-five-year franchise and furnish the city free service for all its offices.

This fight brings up the question of the propriety of two telephone services in the same city, and also, incidentally, the question of public control. The arguments advanced are not new, but they are, nevertheless, of considerable public interest. The resolution of the question by the largest city of the United States will therefore be awaited with interest.

A Kansas City official announces his intention to educate the people as to the dangers that lurk in meats and other foods that are exposed to the dust of the street by the dealers. "To educate" them is all he can do, for the reason that there is no law to prevent the dealers from so exposing their wares. His words have interested the press in the subject. One paper calls for a law. "No dealer," says the Star, "should be permitted to expose for sale any uncovered article of food outside his store, or inside in seasons when doors and windows are left open. Such a law would not be a hardship on the dealers. It would enforce only ordinary cleanliness. It would be a reasonable sanitary act. And it would be a law, furthermore, that could be easily enforced, for foods unlawfully exposed to street dust, which is alive with disease germs and is repugnantly uncleanly as well, should be made subject to confiscation." About a year ago Chicago had the same problem to deal with, and it was settled by the passage of an ordinance forbidding the exposure of meats and similar products to the dust and impurities which fill the air of city streets. A heavy fine was prescribed as a penalty. The practice of hanging meats in front of shops, there to catch dust, attract flies and risk contamination through the action of the sun's hot rays, is one too frequently found in the various cities. It is one which should be discouraged; its prohibition by law is not too severe. Louisville dealers sin in this respect. Here is a field well meriting the attention of the city authorities concerned in protecting public health.

The Ferris Wheel which, in the boldness of its design and unique adaptation for the use for which it was constructed, has long been an object of wonder, has at last been relegated to the scrap pile. It was built for and first installed at the Chicago World's Fair and ranked as a mechanical wonder with the Eiffel Tower of Paris, its cost having been $750,000. But when the Fair closed its utility ceased, and, despite reports that it was to be moved to Coney Island and other places, it remained at Chicago until the St. Louis Exposition was projected. Then it was sold for $15,000 and set up on the Exposition grounds at a cost of $200,000. In accordance with the terms of its installment it had to be removed from Forest Park. But as the expense of taking it down by piecemeal was too great it was finally determined to dynamite it and dispose of it as scrap iron. This has just been done and, as it has proven an unprofitable investment, it is not probable that its like will be seen again. It was a bold and daring mechanical venture, but proved perfectly safe in its apparently dangerous structure, giving to the curious public the sensation of an aerial ascension with the comfort and safety of a street-car ride.

One of the May magazines has this definition of "a Kentucky breakfast:"

"'What's a Kentucky breakfast?' asks Cyclone Bill.

"'Why, a Kentucky breakfast is a three-pound steak, a bottle of whisky and a setter dog.'

"'What's the dog for?'

"'Why, to eat the steak, of course.'"

Why was Kentucky selected to hang that joke on?

Some State was needed.

But why was Kentucky selected?

Because it is everywhere known that Kentucky is the one State whose whisky is good enough to dispense with all accompaniments, condiments, collaterals and adulterations.

GROUND TO PULP

In Water Wheel of Old Mill While Fishing.

TRAGIC END TO PICNIC NEAR NORTH MIDDLETOWN.

JOHN CLARKE KILLED WHILE COMPANIONS PLAYED.

FRIENDS FIND MANGLED BODY.

Paris, Ky., May 14.—[Special.]—Death in a frightful form interrupted the pleasure of a picnic and fishing party from the Kentucky Classical and Business College, of North Middletown to-day. John Clarke, the sixteen-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Clarke, left his comrades who were fishing near Spear's Mills, near North Middletown, and climbed up under the mill dam to fish. While there the water wheel started up catching him under the paddles, grinding his body to a pulp. Being missed a search was instituted and his mangled remains were found on the wheel. Young Clarke was a bright boy, and very popular with his fellow students.

CHARGE OF ARSON

Made Against Former School Superintendent.

Newport, Ky., May 14.—Chief John Watters, of the Fire Department, made affidavit to a warrant to-day charging former County Superintendent of Schools, U. S. Dunn, with arson. The department was summoned at 2:30 this morning to the residence owned by Charles Roehl, where the entire second floor was in flames. Dunn, whose wife secured a divorce last year on the ground that he paid more attention to a pet dog than he did to her, occupied the second floor and attic and William Bowen and family reside on the first floor. Bowen was aroused by a portion of the ceiling plaster falling upon him. The rooms were filled with smoke and he and his wife and children were on the verge of suffocation. Smoke appeared from every window. Chief Watters upon investigation discovered thick carpet paper nailed against the windows in Dunn's apartments to shut from view the fire inside. Piles of oil soaked paper were found in each room and burning cotton rope soaked with oil led to the paper. Dunn was last seen at 10 o'clock Sunday morning. The divorce proceedings brought by his wife greatly worried him, it is said.

He began the practice of law in Maysville many years ago, and has been successful, taking a prominent position from the beginning. When his body was removed from the bed upon which he had been suffering, it fell to pieces. A day after he was burned, pneumonia developed. U. D. C. Meeting.

Much Business Transacted and Many Contributions Made to Worthy Causes. Two New Members.

The May meeting of the Albert Sidney Johnston Chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy was held yesterday afternoon at the Louisville Hotel, with Mrs. Andrew Broaddus in the chair.

A large part of the afternoon was devoted to reviewing the situation at San Francisco, and letters were read from two prominent Daughters of the Confederacy, Mrs. A. H. Voorhees, president of the Albert Sidney Johnston Chapter of San Francisco and first vice president of the general organization U. D. C., and from Mrs. Virginia B. Hilliard, historian of the Jefferson Davis Chapter of San Francisco, and an honorary member of the Louisville Chapter.

The local chapter has contributed $210 toward buying 100 outfits of underclothing to be sent to the Daughters of the Confederacy in San Francisco, and more money was raised yesterday after the two letters were read.

With these outfits, such articles as tooth brushes, combs, soap, towels, etc., were also sent.

The chapter decided to help the anti-tuberculosis movement, and will give a river excursion early in the summer to raise money for this cause.

It was decided to erect a memorial slab over the grave of the first Kentucky woman who ever decorated a Confederate grave, Mrs. Sarah Pollard McQuown, who is buried in Cave Hill. She first decorated a Confederate grave in the spring of 1862, in the face of the greatest odds.

The chapter arranged for the celebration of its own Memorial Day, which will take place on Saturday, June 2, the birthday of Gen. Ben Hardin Helm. The celebration will take place at 3 o'clock in the afternoon at the chapel in Cave Hill, and will include a musical programme, Miss Lucy Humphreys being one of the soloists. Mrs. James B. Camp was appointed chairman of the committee on arrangements.

Jefferson Davis' birthday will be celebrated by the chapter on Sunday, June 3, at 3 p. m., at Macauley's Theater. The programme will be announced later.

Two new members were received into the chapter during the meeting in the persons of Mrs. James Hite and Mrs. Edgar Gay Hill.

An Ex-Kentuckian's Good Work.

[The San Diego Union.]

The fund which San Diego is raising as its share in the relief of the unfortunate victims of earthquake and fire has doubled during the past twenty-four hours. This is a good showing, of course, but it should not suggest any relaxation of effort. In this behalf Mayor Sehon is doing most efficient work. San Diego has never had an executive who showed to greater advantage in an emergency. His energy and executive ability were superbly executed at the time of the Bennington disaster. They are equally conspicuous now. Let him have cordial support, and San Diego will have reason to be proud of the part it will play in relieving the pressing distress in San Francisco and vicinity.

BY INJUNCTION

Property Owners Seek to Prevent Street Improvement.

FILE SUIT TO RESTRAIN BARBER ASPHALT CO.

NEW TURN IN LONG TROUBLE IN NEW ALBANY.

RAISE SUM TO PAY EXPENSES.

Suit w s brought in the Floyd County C rcuit Court at New Albany yesterday by P. N. Curl, John J. Lyons, William Stonecipher, Katherine Broeker, Daniel R. Humphrey and thirty other property owners on West Main street against the Barber Asphalt Paving Company, the Board of Public Works of New Albany, and John Tegart and Charles W. Poutch, members of that body. The plaintiffs comprise the entire list of property owners on the street mentioned.

It is instituted to restrain the defendant company from taking any steps whatever to improve West Main street, from West First to West Tenth with asphalt paving and also asks that the Board of Public Works, J. E. Tegart and C. W. Poutch be enjoined and restrained from aiding and abetting the asphalt company in its purpose to begin the work of improving the street and also enjoins the board and the two members from accepting, approving or recognizing the construction of the street, and also against making any assessment against the property or any cost thereon.

In the complaint the plaintiffs allege that the Board of Public Works of New Albany and two of its members, John Tegart and C. W. Poutch, had no authority to extend the contract made July 5, 1903, with the Barber Asphalt Paving Company by the New Albany Common Council and annulled a few months later. This contract, annulled by the New Albany Common Council, had been, the plaintiffs aver, practically abandoned by the defendant company when it instituted a damage suit against the city to recover $80,000 damages, now pending in the Federal Court at Indianapolis. It is further averred by the plaintiffs that the extension of the contract, granted by the Board of Public Works May 8, 1906, had been ordered by that body without due notice being given them, and that thereby they were deprived of an opportunity to remonstrate against the action of the board.

The property owners filing the suit also declare in the complaint that they were desirous of having the street in controversy improved with vitrified brick, but were almost unanimous in their opposition to the asphalt improvement. A considerable sum has been raised by the owners of the property abutting the street and subject to the cost of the improvement to defray the law expenses that will arise, and they are determined to carry the case to the court of last resort. Representatives for the defendant company were in New Albany yesterday, and it is understood that work was to have begun on the improvement to-day. This injunction suit will stop such proceedings for a time at least.

When the Board of Works at New Albany extended the contract for the improvement of West Main street, the order covered the improvement of Spring street from West Eighth street to Vincennes street, a distance of nearly two miles, and State street, from Main street to a point 100 feet north of Oak street, or nearly half a mile. It is understood that the property owners on these two streets are complaining concerning the action of the Board of Works, but as yet their objections have not gone so far as to carry the controversy into the courts.

CRIMINAL CASES

Disposed of At Opening Session of Floyd Circuit Court.

The Floyd Circuit Court at New Albany convened yesterday morning for the May term. After calling the probate and civil docket, several criminal cases were disposed of.

Spencer Ferree, incorrigible and but twelve years old, was sentenced to the Reform School for Boys at Plainfield, to remain until he is twenty-one years old, unless sooner released on account of exceptionally good behavior.

The case of the State against Thomas Alexander, who is charged with shooting Robert Richardson with intent to kill, was called and continued on account of the absence of the prosecuting witness. The offense for which Alexander is charged was committed on the Dinkey train running from Louisville to New Albany several months ago, when Alexander, it is said, fired a pistol shot into a crowded coach while standing on the platform and the bullet struck Richardson in the shoulder.

In the case against George Davis, formerly engaged in the retail grocery business in New Albany, who is charged with embezzlement, the defendant failed to answer and the cash bond of $500 deposited by his wife at the time he was taken into custody, was declared forfeited and a bench warrant will be issued.

William Jenks, a well-known young man of New Albany, entered a plea of guilty to a charge of simple assault and was fined $10 and costs. That part of the indictment charging a felonious intent was nollied. The case of the State against Thomas McDonald, charged with petit larceny, was continued on account of the absence of witnesses for the prosecution.

Wife Desertion Charged.

Frank Milligan, an employe of the Southern Railway Company, was arrested in New Albany yesterday afternoon by Patrolman William Martin on a charge of wife desertion, preferred by his wife, Maud Milligan, who alleged that he had deserted her and had failed to make any provision for her support and that of their child. Milligan entered a plea of not guilty in Magistrate Fogle's court and was released on bond for his appearance to answer Thursday of this week.

A few days ago Mrs. Milligan, by her next friend, Florence Rivenbauch, instituted an action in the Floyd Circuit Court against her husband, Frank Milligan, asking that the court give her judgment of $35 a month for the maintenance of her and the child and asking that the Southern Railway Company, his employer, be required to pay that amount out of the monthly wages of the defendant for her use and benefit. They were married June 9, 1904, and separated January 7, 1906, since which time, the plaintiff avers, the defendant has failed to provide for his family.

Mrs. Unclebach asks for the custody of the children and for reasonable alimony. ARRANGING DETAILS

GETTING READY FOR THE HEADS OF HOUSES.

Eighty-eight Firms Will Send Representatives.

Preparations for the "Heads of Houses" excursion are growing, and all the details of arrangement soon will be completed. Acceptances continue to reach the office of the Board of Trade from the heads of the various wholesale and manufacturing establishments of the city, eighty-eight of which already have signified their intention of sending from one to four men on the trip.

At present the indications are that four passenger coaches will be necessary to accommodate the excursionists and at least one baggage car for the transportation of refreshments for those on board and those who are to be entertained at the three stops—Lawrenceburg, Harrodsburg and Danville.

James F. Buckner, Jr., spent yesterday at these three towns completing arrangements for the entertainment of the local merchants who are to be the guests of the Louisville merchants May 22.

Those having the excursion in charge request that all who make the trip notify their friends in advance of their coming, in order that no time may be wasted in searching for them on arrival, as the stop at each place will be only from one to two hours. It is suggested also that the drummers who work this part of the territory should be called in to participate with the heads of houses in this excursion.

SUDDEN COLLAPSE

May Cause Death of J. B. Spahr, of Jeffersonville.

TREASURER-ELECT AND MAN OF WIDE ACQUAINTANCE.

CRIPPLE WHO HAS OVERCOME BIG OBSTACLES.

HE FALLS INTO A STUPOR.

Joseph B. Spahr, Treasurer-elect of Jeffersonville, was believed to be dying last night at his home, 503 East Maple street, in that city, from a sudden collapse that came upon him yesterday afternoon at 1 o'clock. He had not been in a good physical condition for some time, but was able to be on Spring street Sunday a part of the day. When his friends inquired as to his health he replied that he was not feeling well. While at his home yesterday afternoon he was attacked by a sinking spell and fell into a stupor. Physicians were hurriedly summoned and they gave it as their opinion that the patient could not live until sundown. At times he rallied and became conscious, but showed no signs of permanent relief and soon fell asleep again.

While not much more than a child, Mr. Spahr fell from an engine at Atlanta, Ga., and sustained injuries that made him a cripple, and it was believed he never would grow to manhood. Under careful attention he recovered to some extent and he became an expert telegraph operator, but was compelled to use an invalid's chair at all times. January 13, while sitting on the side of his bed he slipped and in doing so, broke one of the bones of his hip. At the time he received the injury he was employed in the Western Union Telegraph office in Louisville.

On account of his popularity and his sunny disposition Mr. Spahr was induced to accept the Republican nomination for City Treasurer of Jeffersonville, and was elected last November. He joined Jeffersonville Lodge No. 362, of Elks and Kwasind Tribe of Red Men several years ago.

Mr. Spahr was born at Fort Dodge, Kans., February 2, 1874. His father was Joel R. Spahr, who died in Jeffersonville some time ago. The father was a soldier during the Civil War and at its termination became a clerk in the Quartermaster's Department and was an expert. He was stationed at many different places and on three different occasions became connected with the Government depot in Jeffersonville. Once he was chief clerk there, but at the time of his last illness was cashier and paymaster. Mr. Spahr's widow and one daughter live in Jeffersonville, and another son, Howard Spahr, is connected with the Government depot at Denver.

VALUABLE HORSE KILLED.

Animal Runs Away and Falls Into Sewer Excavation.

A bay horse that belonged to Peter Kamer and valued at $250, was killed by falling into an excavation that is being made for a sewer in Jeffersonville, yesterday at noon. Peter Kamer and his brother, Charles Kamer, who live at the Fourth Dam, on Silver Creek, west of Jeffersonville several miles, started to Louisville yesterday morning with a pair of fine horses they intended to sell. One of the animals was hitched to a buggy in which the brothers rode and the other horse was led by a strong rope.

After reaching Jeffersonville the horse that was being led took fright at an interurban car and plunged forward, his forefeet landing in the rear of the buggy, pushing the vehicle onto the animal in the shafts. This caused him to lunge, and in doing so, the buggy was overturned. The occupants were thrown out, and after the vehicle had been dragged some distance the harness broke, freeing the horse. Neither of the Kamers was seriously hurt. The horses ran in Spring street to the river, then started east, finally reaching Market street and Meigs avenue, where the sewer is being built.

The horse with the rope attached to him jumped the sewer, but his mate in attempting to make the leap became entangled in the harness and fell into the excavation, striking on the heavy box used for forming the concrete work. The animal died in a few seconds, but it is said his neck was not broken. The hole is about twelve feet deep, and it is supposed the horse ruptured a blood vessel of the heart.

AGREED ENTRY

Made Yesterday In Case of Estate of Eulalia Sparks.

An agreed entry was consented to yesterday in the Clark Circuit Court in Jeffersonville, in the suit of Joseph P. Burns, guardian of Eulalia Sparks, against Isaac N. Haymaker, also guardian of Miss Sparks, on objections to a final report that was filed March 10, 1905, at which time Mr. Haymaker resigned his trust. In his report he showed that he became guardian September 14, 1899, and at that time there fell into his hands $1,768.87, which belonged to Miss Sparks and her sister, Madeline Sparks, heirs of Dustin Sparks, a conductor who was killed in a washout on the Pittsburg, Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis railroad, near Columbus, Ind., the money being received through a compromise with the road. The last named ward is now twenty-three years old and the first twenty.

Under the agreed entry it is shown that Mr. Haymaker is to pay over to George W. Badger, Circuit Clerk, $1,905.53, of which $1,811.01 is to be in cash and payment of the remaining $94.52 is passed for the present. The case has attracted a great deal of attention on account of the numerous steps taken in it.

DIED SUDDENLY OF HEART DISEASE.

How frequently does a head line similar to the above greet us in the newspapers. The rush, push and strenuousness of the American people has a strong tendency to lead up to valvular and other affections of the heart, attended by irregular action, palpitation, dizziness, smothered sensations and other distressing symptoms.

Three of the prominent ingredients of which Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is made are recommended by some of the leading writers on Materia Medica for the cure of just such cases. Golden Seal root, for instance, is said by the UNITED STATES DISPENSATORY, a standard authority, "to impart tone and increased power to the heart's action." Numerous other leading authorities represent Golden Seal as an unsurpassed tonic for the muscular system in general, and as the heart is almost wholly composed of muscular tissue, it naturally follows that it must be greatly strengthened by this superb, general tonic. But probably the most important ingredient of "Golden Medical Discovery," so far as its marvelous cures of valvular and other affections of the heart are concerned, is Stone root, or Collinsonia Can., Prof. Wm. Paine, author of Paine's Epitomy of Medicine, says of it:

"I, not long since, had a patient who was so much oppressed with valvular disease of the heart that his friends were obliged to carry him up-stairs. He, however, gradually recovered under the influence of Collinsonin (medicinal principle extracted from Stone root), and is now attending to his business. Heretofore physicians knew of no remedy for the removal of so distressing and so dangerous a malady. With them it was all guess-work, and it fearfully warned the afflicted that death was near at hand. Collinsonin unquestionably affords relief in such cases, and in most instances effects a cure."

Stone root is also recommended by Drs. Hale and Ellingwood, of Chicago, for valvular and other diseases of the heart. The latter says: "It is a heart tonic of direct and permanent influence."

"Golden Medical Discovery," not only cures serious heart affections, but is a most efficient general tonic and invigorator, strengthening the stomach, invigorating the liver, regulating the bowels and curing catarrhal affections in all parts of the system.

Dr. Pierce's Pellets cure Constipation.

Under the provisions of the ordinance owners failing to comply with its requirements may be fined not less than $5 nor more than $20 for each day of such violation of the law.

Dr. M. K. Allen, the Health Officer, will co-operate with the City Beautiful Committee in vigorously prosecuting all persons who allow weeds to accumulate upon their premises or upon any vacant lot which they may own. These weeds not only detract greatly from the beauty of the city, but are a menace to the public health.

Under the terms of the ordinance the Health Department is directed to investigate any cases of reported violation of the law and to swear out warrants for the offending property owners.

The Commercial Club and others who are interested in the movement to improve the appearance of Louisville should report, in writing, all violations to Dr. M. K. Allen, Health Officer.

Following is the provision in full:

"Be it ordained by the General Council of the city of Louisville: Section 1. That hereafter it shall be unlawful for the owner, agent or occupant of a lot whereon a building of any kind may exist, or the owner or agent in charge of any vacant lot within the corporate limits of the city of Louisville, to permit any growth of weeds, which are, or may become, a menace to the public health, or collection of garbage or filth of any description to remain on the lot aforesaid for a longer period than three days after notice to remove same has been given by the Health Department of the city of Louisville to the owner, agent or occupant thus offending.

"Sec. 2. For any violation of the provisions of this ordinance by the owner, agent or occupant of the property the person guilty thereof shall be fined not less than $5 nor more than $20 for each offense, and each and every day of such violation shall constitute a separate offense and be punishable as such.

"Sec. 3. That all ordinances or parts of ordinances in conflict herewith are hereby repealed.

"Sec. 4. This ordinance shall take effect from and after its passage."

COMES FROM HART COUNTY FOR HER HUSBAND.

Sue Ann Taylor, twenty-seven years old, of Hart county, came to Louisville yesterday morning and swore out a disorderly conduct warrant against her husband, Andrew Taylor. She said that they were married in Hart county on March 1, 1901, and that on the following day Andrew disappeared, and has not since been seen by her. She said that the first she heard of him was from her sister, who lives beyond the city limits on the Seventh-street road, who saw him at Fourth avenue and Market street last Saturday. She said that she intended to start divorce proceedings.

MANY COUNTIES

Adopt Suggestion to Have Home-Coming.

WILL BE HELD WEEK OF JUNE 17.

MRS. LESLIE CARTER COMING BACK TO KENTUCKY

HER ONLY DEFINITE PLAN.

The suggestion made by the Commercial Club that all of the counties in the State hold county home-comings to supplement the general reunion in Louisville has been adopted by many, and the week of June 18 will see gatherings in the county seats, which, in point of interest to those in attendance, will surpass even the celebration in Louisville. No matter how much the former residents of Kentucky will enjoy the sensation once more of treading Kentucky soil, the truest delight will come when once more he looks upon the actual scene where he spent the happiest hours of his childhood, meets his boyhood friends and talks over the old days.

The majority of the counties have selected one day of the week following the Home-coming at Louisville as the day of the county celebration, but in one or two instances the committees selected to fix the dates have decided to hold a county home-coming on June 15 or 16.

"Where the dates of the county home-coming have been fixed for the week of June 13-17," said R. E. Hughes, Director General of Home-coming Week, "the selection was made under a misapprehension, and wherever attention has been called to the fact the date has been changed. As some of the most interesting events of Home-coming Week will be given on Friday and Saturday, June 15 and 16, many that will be glad to attend their county reunion would prefer to remain in Louisville to see the night pageant and attend the Armory ball. Furthermore, the reduced rates on the railroads for Kentucky points will not go into effect until June 16, and this would also materially affect the attendance in the outside counties. The Commercial Club has done its utmost to assist the promoters of the county home-comings, and has out of regard for them refrained from giving any entertainment in the nature of a picnic or barbecue. We have confined out entertainments to such events as it would be practically impossible for any single county in the State to arrange. We at first intended to have a large barbecue, but decided to eliminate that feature from our programme, as several counties expressed a desire to arrange barbecues. It would be a mistake to divide the crowd by having home-coming celebrations in Louisville and in the counties on the same day. I believe that all of the counties who have considered June 15 or 16 as possible days for their reunions will change to the week of June 17."

Mrs. Carter Coming.

Mrs. Leslie Carter, the most noted American emotional actress, and who is a native of Maysville, Ky., will be in Louisville for Home-coming Week. In reply to a question about her plans for her summer vacation, she said that she had decided upon but one thing definitely, and that was to attend "Home-coming of all Kentuckians."

Frank McKee, the Louisville man who is now one of the best-known theatrical managers in New York, wrote in a letter received yesterday that Mrs. Carter had told him that she would certainly be here, and also said that the following Kentuckians, all of whom are well-known members of the theatrical profession, had informed him of their intention to come: Miss Maud Feeley, Miss Pearl Grau, George W. Davis, James Cochran and J. Gargan Keiser. Mr. Cochran is a Louisville boy, and has made a success as an Irish comedian. Messrs. Davis and Keiser and Miss Grau are well-known comic-opera singers. Mr. Keiser is a comedian, who has made an excellent reputation throughout the West, and who has also been successful as a theatrical promoter.

Invitations For Banquet.

Arrangements for the banquet of the Alumni of Centre College and Central University, which will be held at the Galt House, Thursday, June 14, have been completed. The committee in charge, Dr. F. W. Hinitt, Dr. L. H. Blanton, Alex. P. Humphrey, Dr. L. S. McMurtry, A. Y. Ford and Col. Thomas W. Bullitt, have had printed a special invitation, inviting the Alumni to the banquet, which will be inclosed with an invitation for Home-coming Week.

All expenses of the banquet will be borne by the Alumni of the two universities living in Kentucky, and it is expected that the banquet will be the largest ever held by the graduates of the two institutions. All those who intend to be present have been requested to send their acceptances to Dr. Herbert Bronner, of this city.

A Princess Invited.

An invitation for Home-coming Week has been extended to Prince and Princess Rospigliosi, Rospigliosi Palace, Rome, Italy. The Princess is the daughter of Mrs. Josephine Rowan Reid and granddaughter of the late John Rowan, former United States Senator. The Princess was born and reared at Federal Hill, near Bardstown, Ky., in the house in which Foster wrote "My Old Kentucky Home." She has been a resident of Italy now for several years, but her friends in Kentucky hope that she will return to Louisville for Home-coming Week.

OLD SORES OFTEN LEAD TO CANCER

Whenever a sore or ulcer does not heal and shows signs of becoming chronic, it should arouse suspicion, because many of these places lead to Cancer. It may appear as an ordinary sore at first, and is given treatment as such, with some simple salve, wash or plaster, with the hope that the place will heal, but the real seat of the trouble is in the blood and cannot be reached by external remedies, and soon the sore will return. After awhile the deadly poison begins to eat into the surrounding flesh and the ulcer spreads rapidly, becoming more offensive and alarming until at last the sufferer finds he is afflicted with Cancer. Cancerous ulcers often start from a boil, wart, mole or pimple, which has been bruised or roughly handled, showing that the taint is in the blood, perhaps inherited. Another cause for non-healing ulcers and sores is the remains of some constitutional disease or the effects of a long spell of sickness. S. S. S. goes down to the very root of the trouble and cures so thoroughly that there is never any sign of the trouble in after years. As soon as the system gets under the influence of S. S. S. the place begins to improve, the discharge gradually grows less, the inflammation leaves, the flesh resumes its healthy color, and soon the sore is well, because every vestige of the cause has been removed from the blood. Book on sores and ulcers and medical advice without charge.

I was suffering greatly from a cancerous ulcer on my left breast, which had begun to eat, and at times would discharge very offensive matter. I knew the trouble was hereditary as an only sister, my mother and two of her sisters died of Cancer. I am fully satisfied I would have gone the sameway but for S. S. S., which cured me.

BUSY DAYS

Health and Street Cleaning Departments at Work.

CRUSADE AGAINST MISQUITOES BEGINS NEXT WEEK.

OIL WILL BE POURED ON ALL STAGNANT POOLS.

CAMOZZI'S HEARIN TO-DAY.

Dr. M. K. Allen and his force in the City Health Department are busily engaged in trying to get the city thoroughly cleaned before the hot days of summer arrive. He said yesterday that his force was so limited that it would be impossible to clean the city effectually unless the citizens themselves and the police joined in the crusade. In thousands of cases the mere fact of receiving notices does not seem to produce results. In many instances nothing less than warrants will force some citizens to clean their premises.

The county officials have joined in the crusade against the mosquito, and the object is to exterminate it in Louisville and Jefferson county as nearly as possible. While there is no yellow fever in this latitude to be guarded against, the mosquitoes that breed in this country are great disseminators of all forms of malaria and kindred diseases. For this reason, war will be made on them this year. The work of putting oil on the ponds, sloughs and pools of stagnant water outside of the city limits was begun by the county authorities Saturday. This will be kept up at intervals of every two or three weeks through the summer months.

• • •

Will Begin Monday.

The Board of Works, at the request of Dr. Allen, has ordered William Small, of the Street-cleaning Department, to put crude oil on all ponds and pools of stagnant water in the city limits. Mr. Small said yesterday that he would begin the work of pouring oil on the ponds in the city next Monday. He will start several carts loaded with crude petroleum, which will be dispensed to the detriment of the mosquito.

It is estimated that it will take about 4,000 gallons of crude petroleum to supply the Street-cleaning Department for this purpose during the summer. Dr. Allen has ordered that the oil shall be put on the ponds at intervals of every two weeks. The oil generally costs from eight to nine cents a gallon, and is in barrels of fifty gallons each. The cost is regarded as a mere trifle in comparison with what it would cost to care for poor people at the City Hospital, who would contract diseases and illness from the prevalence of mosquitoes in certain localities.

• • •

Cost a Mere Trifle.

"The cost and work of putting oil on ponds in the city," said Dr. M. K. Allen, "is nothing in comparison with the cost of damage that might be done by the mosquito pest. Take, for instance, what we call the Point, up around the Big Four bridge. It is a low place, and numerous pools of stagnant water stand the year round. If mosquitoes are allowed to breed in great swarms, numerous cases of malaria would result, and the city would be compelled to care for the patients in the City Hospital. The old adage that an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure is certainly good in this case.

"We are also trying to get all the vacant lots cleaned. This is a hard job, too. People seem to think that they are privileged to dump all the garbage and filth they choose on adjoining vacant lots. This should be stopped. Police officials should be instructed to take out warrants against any persons caught dumping garbage on vacant lots. It is imperative that we should have a clean city if we want to boast of a healthful one."

MUST HAVE PERMITS.

R. J. Tilford Says Building Ordinance Will Be Enforced.

Considerable trouble has been caused lately in the office of R. J. Tilford, City Building Inspector, from the fact that hundreds of persons have proceeded to build houses and put additions to their residences without taking out permits as required by ordinance. In many instances the police have reported persons, and they have gone to the office and taken out permits, but in others the force in the office has been compelled to make tours through the city and see that permits are taken. An unusual number of small buildings have been erected this spring, and Mr. Tilford says that he intends to see that the ordinance is rigidly enforced, and he advises all persons, before building either houses or additions to houses, to take out permits.

CAMOZZI INVESTIGATION

Set For 11 O'Clock To-day Before Board of Public Safety.

John H. Settle and John D. Wakefield, members of the Board of Public Safety, who have been sojourning at French Lick Springs for the last ten days, have returned to Louisville and were in attendance at the meeting of the board yesterday morning. The trial of Jerry Camozzi, Corporal in the Police Department, on the charge of assaulting Mrs. Mollie Barr, is set for 11 o'clock to-day before the board. A long list of witnesses will be examined. The members of the board say that nothing but a thorough investigation of the case will suffice. All they want is to get the straight of the affair. Corporal Camozzi has not been on duty since he was suspended by James B. Smith, chairman of the Board of Public Safety.

Leaves For San Francisco.

Fillmore Tyson, Chief of the Fire Department, left last night for San Francisco, where he goes to study the conditions resulting from the great conflagration that leveled the city several weeks ago. Chief Tyson will visit several of the large Western cities before he returns to Louisville. He will be absent probably two weeks or more. Henry Weatherford, Assistant Fire Chief of the Fourth district, will be Acting Chief in the absence of Chief Tyson.

Warrants For Delinquents.

The City Sinking Fund Commissioners are tired waiting on the delinquent lawyers, physicians and dentists, who have failed to take out their licenses as required by ordinance. The license fees of $10 each were due March 28. All but fifty have taken out their licenses. Warrants will be issued against the delinquents today, and they will have to answer in the Ordinance Court Thursday. A penalty is attached for failure to take out license.

Children's Liberal Response.

The sum of $102.59 was turned over yesterday to Mayor Paul C. Barth from the children of the Gavin H. Cochran, and two private schools for the benefit of the San Francisco sufferers. A committee of boys called on the Mayor and gave him the check for the money. The check later was sent to Logan C. Murray, treasurer of the relief fund.

RIVER TELEGRAMS.

Pittsburg, Pa., May 14.—[Special.]—It is recommended by Supervising Inspector Crumbaugh that the Pittsburg district be extended to Wheeling. This would add about thirty-five boats to this district and give the inspectors here about 185 boats in their charge. The Pittsburg district would then have more boats than the Cincinnati and Point Pleasant districts combined. Inspectors George H. Atkinson and Isaac B. Williams now have about all the work that two inspectors can do. The rivers are falling slowly. There was 3.2 feet of water in the harbor to-night and 5.1 feet at Davis Island dam.

BROCKENBROGH PROPERTY BRINGS $26,000.

All legal requirements have been complied with for the transfer of the Brockenbrogh property on Fourth avenue to the new owners, the Underwriters' Realty Company. The deeds went to record on Saturday.

The property is reported to have brought $26,000. It has a frontage of 51 feet and the lot extends to a depth of 200 feet. The sale was negotiated by O'Reilly and Meddis.

The property is occupied by the Louisville Gas Company, and they have put several thousands of dollars' worth of improvements on it during the period of their lease, the fifth and last year of which is completed on September 1, of this year.

It is reported that the present tenants will not be disturbed, as the property was bought as an investment by the new owners and not for occupancy as has been reported.

ATTEMPTED COUP FAILS BY A NARROW MARGIN

Sam Craig, Backed From Twenty-Five to Six to One, Beaten By Bradley's Pet.

ROBIN HOOD DEFEATS GOOD SPRINTERS

Several Falls But No Fatalities in Steeplechase Race.

FAVORITES BOWLED OVER.

Old Fonsoluca Comes To Life and Beats Padre and Keynote.

LIVELY GOSSIP OF THE TRACK.

SELECTIONS FOR TO-DAY.

First Race—Reticent, Lizzie McLean, Minnehaha.
Second Race—Banner, Hector, Husted.
Third Race—Zal, Fair Fagot, King Leopold.
Fourth Race—Envoy, Hyperion II., Don Domo.
Fifth Race—Margaret Morris, Princess Marie, Betsy Binford.
Sixth Race — Elliott, Garrett Wilson, Gambrinus.
Seventh Race—The Englishman, Knowledge, Iole.

SAM CRAIG, an aged horse by Eon—Vigiline, belonging to W. V. Conran, ran second in the last race at Churchill Downs yesterday afternoon and had he finished first a number of bookmakers would have been put out of business.

The attempted killing was one of the biggest things of its kind which has occurred on a Western race track in years, and the result merely goes to show that even the wisest of turfmen are very often wrong in their calculations.

Sam Craig is a well-known in-and-outer. Big killings have been made on him several times during the past two or three years, but nothing like that of yesterday had ever before been attempted with this horse. The race was a selling affair at a mile and an eighth, and when the first prices were chalked on the board Sam Craig was placed at 25 and 30 to 1. The men who were endeavoring to engineer the coup went quietly about their business. They merely bet $2 through the board at 25, 8 and 4. Occasionally those on the inside would string $5 through the board, and while the public and the talent was backing Bradley's Pet, Swift Wing and the Gambler with twenties and hundreds this steady play on Sam Craig continued. Finally one bookmaker cut Sam Craig's price to 10 to 1, and then there was a wild scramble to get aboard at this price. Every book in the ring took a chunk of money at 10 to 1, and in less time than it takes to tell it the price against Sam Craig was cut to 5 and 6 to 1.

Sam Craig was well meant all right. He got away in first place, but with Gullett on his back immediately cropped back to seventh position. Six lengths behind the leader. Then he began to pick up his company one by one, and, as they turned into the stretch he was only half a length behind Bradley's Pet, the leader and the favorite. Then ensued a long hard drive throughout the entire length of the stretch and Sam Craig was simply not good enough to win, for when the pinch came Bradley's Pet outgamed him, and won rather easily by a length and a half. Sam Craig was as easily the best of the others, and those who had wagered their money on him through the board won a handsome pile of money, even though he finished second.

Robin Hood Takes Feature.

While this race was by no means the feature of the card, it was by long odds the most interesting to the bookmakers and to those who watched the operations of the men who expected to win a fortune. The real feature of the card was the fourth race, which was at five furlongs, and in which the best sprinters at the track faced the barrier. Robin Hood was always an odds on favorite, and the play on the son of Kingston was especially heavy. Heine, Mum and Tocolaw were fairly well supported, while the price against Maplehurst went from 20 to 50 to 1.

Robin Hood got away in front, and making each post a winning post, simply galloped home an easy winner by two lengths, while Maplehurst caught Mum tiring badly in the stretch, and finished second six lengths in front of Heine. The time was 1:01 1-5, which was very fast, considering the condition of the track.

Several Close Finishes.

Outside of the sprint race the card was not very attractive, but in a number of races the finishes were too close for comfort for those who had wagered their money on the horses which finished near the head of the procession. In the first race, which was a selling affair at six furlongs for fillies and mares, Nicol outrode Preston, and was responsible for Follies Bergeres winning from Mill Song by a nose on the post. A quiet tip had gone abroad concerning Mill Song, and the three-year-old daughter of Kismet was played as if it were all over but the shouting. She was backed from 3 to 1 to 6 to 5, and, getting away in second place, took command at the half-mile post and led into the stretch by half a length. It was here that Nicol began to ride on Follies Bergeres, and these two fought it out in a terrific drive from the eighth pole home. Many of the spectators thought these two had run a dead heat, but the judges decided that Follies Bergeres had won, while Mill Song was a length in front of Floss S.

Foxmeade had a hard time winning the second race on the card from Col. Bartlett, a 100-to-1 shot. Savoir Faire was always favorite in this race, while there was a strong play on Capitano. Foxmeade was well liked by the form players, and he rewarded his supporters by finishing a head in front of Col. Bartlett, who was half a length in front of Capitano. These three fought it out through the stretch, and Foxmeade was all out at the end, barely lasting long enough to win by the shortest of heads. Savoir Faire, the favorite, was never prominent and ran a disappointing race.

* * *

Billy Vertrees First.

Another surprise occurred in the third race, which was at four and one-half furlongs, for two-year-olds. Lady Arion, on the strength of her recent performances, was always the favorite, but a good deal of wise money was wagered on the chances of Voting. Very few seemed to admire Billy Vertrees, and his price advanced from 4 to 7 to 1. Holdfast led up to the head of the stretch, where Voting and Billy Vertrees moved up. It was another driving finish, and D. Boland landed Billy Vertrees winner by half a length. Voting was the same distance in front of the Electorine, a long shot.

The steeplechase race, which was over the short course, furnished its usual chapter of accidents, but no member of the suicide club was injured. Disturber II., Bank Holliday, Loch Goil all fell with their riders early in the action, and it looked like two or three of the boys were badly hurt, but all of them will be able to ride in the next jumping race. Dr. Nowlin was the favorite in this race, but the winner turned up in Dunning, a long shot, which led from start to finish and won easily, pulled up, by five lengths, while Dr. Nowlin had a hard time beating Rejectible half a length for the place.

Old Fonsoluca a Surprise.

Joe Pugh, the Covington politician, put a neat one over the plate when Fonsoluca, his aged gelding, captured the last race at the juicy odds of 20 to 1. Keynote was the favorite in this race, which was at a mile and an eighth, but the heavy play was made on Padre. This unsexed son of the Friar was backed from 7 to 3½ to 1 at post time, but Fonsoluca's number was hung up at the end. The favorite led to well in the stretch, when Fonsoluca' and Padre passed him like he was anchored, and with both boys driving to the limit, Fonsocula finished half a length in front of Padre, while Keynote had all he could do to beat Benvolio for third money.

The winner, outrun in the early stages, closed strong turning for home, and, saving ground at the latter, slipped up on the rail, and, standing a long drive, gamely snatched the long end in the last couple of strides from Mill Song. The latter should have won, but Preston eased his mount up at the sixteenth, and Nicol clearly put in over him at the finish. Floss S., taken the overland route the entire trip, closed fast with a belated rattle, disposing of Mafalda in the final drive. The latter was badly messed about. Laura Hunter had early speed, got in a jam turning for home and was not persevered with.

68—SECOND RACE—Seven furlongs; purse $400; for three-year-olds and upward; selling. Start fair. Won all out; place same. Winner, L. L. Lamar's br. g., 5, by Dunois—Good Friend; trained by B. C. Evans. Value to winner, $300. Fractional time: :24 2-5, :49 3-5, 1:15 3-5, 1:29 3-5.

Foxmeade was reserved in the early running, closed fast rounding the far turn, looked an easy winner entering the final furlong, but had to be ridden out to the last ounce to stall off Col. Bartlett, which closed exceptionally strong under punishment. The latter will bear watching. Capitano about ran his race. The Mate had early speed, but could not sustain it. Josie's Jewel, off poorly and jammed back at the start, closed resolutely.

69—THIRD RACE—Four and one-half furlongs; purse $400; for two-year-olds. Start good. Won driving; place same. Winner, H. N. McTyiere's ch. c., by Donald Bain or Handcuff—Forget Me Not; trained by C. Galena. Value to winner, $300. Fractional time: :24, :49, :56 2-5.

Billy Vertrees, cleverly ridden, was reserved in the early running; closed fast turning for home and, standing a long stretch drive gamely, won going away. Voting ran in close contention the entire trip and outgamed Electorine when the pinch came. The latter shows improvement and sure to win soon if not too pretentiously placed. Holdfast showed more speed to-day than on any previous out, running true at all stages, but hung as if a trifle short; is highly thought of and should make good soon. Lady Arion, as good as left, was given an easy ride.

70—FOURTH RACE—Five furlongs; purse $400; for three-year-olds and upward. Start bad. Won easily; place same. Winner, J. P. Mayberry's b. g., 5, by Kingston—Belle of Maywood; trained by owner. Value to winner, $300. Fractional time: :23 3-5, :48 2-5, 1:01 1-5.

Nicol got Robin Hood off well in motion and, making every post a winning one, spreadeagled his field, winning with something in reserve. Maplehurst received the best of the poor start and forced the pace throughout; was only romping at the end. Heine, as good as left, ran all around his field turning for home, outgaming Mum in the final drive. The latter had no excuses; she simply quits when collared. Tocolaw dropped back shortly after the start and was given an easy ride. Others outclassed.

71—FIFTH RACE—Steeplechase; short course; purse $400; for three-year-olds and upward; handicap. Start good. Won easily; place driving. Winner, E. Corrigan's b. g., 4, by Artillery—Eugenia III.; trained by J. P. Devlin. Value to winner, $300. Time, 2:51 4-5.

Dunning had the foot of the party at all stages, is a clever jumper and was never fully extended. Dr. Nowlin forced all the early pace, loomed up dangerously going to the seventh, but dropped back beaten, and was lucky to save the place from Rejectable, which closed fast on the run home on the flat. Onyx had no apparent excuses. Redman and Loch Goil fell at the second, Bank Holiday at the first and Disturber at the fifth.

The winner, always a close contender, closed strongest of all first three through the stretch after taking a wide turn, and outgamed Padre when the pinch came. The latter, under restraint the first part, responded gamely to punishment, but was not quite good enough. Keynote, raced into the ground setting the pace, was given a very indifferent finish. Benvolio is about ready; ran an even race for first out. Sanction can do better.

Bradley's Pet, perfectly ridden, was best; taken back the first half, he moved up and took command rounding the far turn, and, although coming very wide turning for home, won with plenty in reserve. Sam Craig, heavily supported, had no excuses. Two Penny ran to his best form. Swift Wing, badly messed about in the early running, closed strong on the rail. Gambler's lead was on sufferance.

FINE CARD FOR TO-DAY.

Don Domo and Other Fast Sprinters To Meet In Feature Race.

Secretary Davis has outdone himself in the way of arranging an attractive card at the Downs this afternoon in offering as he does as special features a free handicap at six furlongs, in which ten of the best sprinters now quartered at the track are carded to face the starter, and a race for the babies at five furlongs. Those carded in the handicap comprise such well-known speed marvels as Kargut, Meadowbreeze, Dr. Wang, Bass D'Or, Envoy, Hyperion II, Tocolaw, Braden, Princess Orna and the "gray streak" Don Domo. The latter is one of the fastest tricks over this distance of ground in the West, having taken the measure of nearly every sprinter which they stacked up against him in California.

While Don Domo has not been seen under colors since he has returned from the coast, Owner Newman stated last evening that his charge was in the pink of condition, and if he runs to the stable's expectations there will be a streak of gray mizzling out in front several lengths ere the field has gone a quarter of a mile. The Hayes pair, Princess Orna and Braden, look formidable, and should the pace be slow the winner had better be away off when they turn for home or else the horse carrying the green-white sash, white cap, will take home the coonskins. Hyperion II, winner of the Clark Handicap, is a sprinter of no mean ability, and a front runner, too, and if anything in the race stops the "gray streak" it will be this one. All things considered, this should prove a corking contest.

The youngster race is the first over this distance of ground and speculation is sure to be keen, with the issue probably narrowing down to a grueling contest between Zal, Fair Fagot and King Leopold. Five other races comprise a card of which the management may well feel proud, the day's programme closing with a plate race over the one and one-sixteenth miles route. TURF STEWARDS MEET.

Will Shelley Goes Into Stand and Walter Pearce Is Starting Judge.

The monthly meeting of the stewards of the American Turf Association was held at The Seelbach Hotel yesterday, and officials for the Latonia meeting were approved.

The most important item on the card for the meeting was the application for reinstatement made by Trainer Chris Martin, who, it was charged, was mixed up in a peculiar race put up by Grenade at City Park last winter, and who, together with Jockeys McClure and Owner Kay Spence, were suspended.

The application of Martin was laid upon the table for one month so as to give him an opportunity of securing affidavits and presenting them to the stewards. Jockeys McClure and Owner Spence were reinstated. In the case of Jockey B. Smith, who was said to be identified with the Grenade doping case, in that Martin tried to bribe him, and who applied for reinstatement, the case was also laid on the table for a month. Martin has the indorsement of some of the biggest turfmen in the West, and if he is reinstated he will ride for Paul Rainey, the Cleveland millionaire.

In the case of Spence, he was charged with having endeavored to secure the assistance of some one to dope the horse Grenade, and McClure was said to be mixed up in steeplechase scandals. Judges Trevelyn and Murphy were the men who placed the turfmen under the ban.

The application of Vincent Foy for reinstatement was also refused. Foy was under contract to Hughey McCarren, and Foy's father tried to have the contract broken or get the boy away, and he was set down.

Judge Trevelyn will leave for Toronto Thursday, and the stewards at the meeting yesterday selected Will Shelley, of Louisville, to fill Judge Trevelyn's position in the stand as associate judge and Walter Haldeman Pearce to officiate as starting judge. The next meeting of the stewards will be held at Latonia.

CHAT OF THE COURSE.

Jockey Aubuchon had his first mounts of the meeting at Churchill Downs yesterday, and he failed to show very good form. The boy has been riding with considerable success in the South, but he landed in eighth place with his first mount, which was Foreigner, in the second race. He also rode Little Sam in the sixth race, and finished a very bad last.

* * *

Mose Goldblatt, the well-known horse owner, arrived at Churchill Downs yesterday along with Charlie Ellison and a number of other horsemen who have been racing at Memphis. Mr. Goldblatt, it was reported several days ago, had made his bed with the Western Jockey Club, and proposed to lie in it. He must have brought his cot with him yesterday, because he was very prominent at Churchill Downs, and seemed to enjoy himself.

* * *

Several horsemen at the Downs yesterday were speaking of Jockey Cherry, who is under contract to Louis A. Cella and who, it is reported, will be prevented from riding in races, but will be kept at the work of exercising horses, because he talked too much. The horsemen referred to are going to try to secure Jockey Cherry's services for racing over the tracks of the American Turf Association, as well as those of the East. They claim that the boy would be able to ride here, even if he violated his contract with Mr. Cella, and as good jockeys are very scarce just now a determined effort will be made to get the youngster.

"Wink" Williams, the son of Capt. Jim Williams and the owner and trainer of Ram's Horn, said at Belmont Park that the speedy son of Bute had nearly recovered from the sickness which caused his withdrawal from the Excelsior Handicap at Jamaica and several other important races in which he was entered, and that he will probably be ready to race before the Brooklyn Handicap.

The colt caught cold coming up from New Orleans, and was not in condition to race the two times that he did at Aqueduct. He was coughing the day he won his first race, and did not run with anything like his usual form and vigor when he was beaten by Roseben.

After seeing Roseben's signal defeat in the Metropolitan Handicap, Williams is more than ever convinced that Ram's Horn did not run his race in the Carter, and that with both horses in their best form he could gallop with ease away from the big Ben Strome gelding in a mile race.

Matt Allen announced at Belmont Park Saturday that he had declared James Buchanan Brady's Oiseau and Water Light out of the Brooklyn Handicap, which means that that great event has lost two of its most promising candidates.

The withdrawal of Oiseau and Water Light, however, does not indicate that there is anything the matter with either of them. On the contrary, they are both as fit as a pair of fiddles, and Allen has declared them out because he does not wish to hurry them, the Brooklyn being the first big race in which they are entered. Both horses have been well thought of in the future books, and Allen has taken the precaution to keep people from betting on them for the Brooklyn.

It is never Matt Allen's habit to rush his horses in their early spring training, and to this is undoubtedly due much of his success. Oiseau's first start in a big race will be in the Suburban, and Water Light will probably not start until the Westminster Handicap, which is run in the second spring meeting at Gravesend.

"He's the fastest horse I ever saw," said Newton Bennington, as De Mund galloped in six lengths ahead of his field in the Juvenile Handicap last week at Belmont Park.

"He's the fastest horse I ever saw, but he's hardly running now," continued the former owner of the handsome chestnut son of Goldfinch. "Those other horses strained every nerve, but De Mund did not have to make an effort. When he really runs and gets his full speed he looks like his body's not more than three feet from the ground. And any talk about him not going the distance is foolishness. His work-outs bear this out; he has the speed and the staying qualities, too.

"That work-out when he made half a mile in :46 at Gravesend, breaking the world's record, was the most impressive thing I ever saw on a race course. The colt just did it so easily and he looked so noble that it made a sight I'll never forget.

"They used to say Beldame couldn't go the distance, but she did, and she won the greatest number of her races by standing the other horses on their heads in the second quarter. It was the prettiest thing in the world to see her after the first quarter. When she got to her stride O'Neill would just cluck softly to her, and she'd literally run away from the field. Mark what I say—De Mund will give the same sort of a performance, and so will Edna Jackson. That's a fast filly. I'm going to start her in a seven-furlong race Monday, and they'll all know there's been a race when it's over."

Mr. Louis A. Cella, of St. Louis, who has been expected in Louisville for several days to attend the meeting of the board of directors of the Castleton Jockey Club and assist in the organization of that body, failed to reach here yesterday, and the meeting was postponed until Wednesday.

According to Secretary John Hachmeister, Mr. Cella was compelled to go to St. Louis from Memphis on business, and therefore could not get here. However, the work of preparing for the meeting is in progress, and as soon as the board meets and organizes the stake book will be put out.

At the present time the work at Castleton goes on, and the laying of floors on 300 stalls is almost completed. In view of the dampness of the dirt, Secretary Hachmeister has advised horsemen at Memphis to remain there for about a week more, or until this dirt has dried out. Quite a number of stables have already arrived from Memphis, but they have been placed in the old stalls and stables. It is expected that before another week has passed there will be at least 1,000 horses at Castleton.

"This attendance is simply remarkable," said George Lindenberger, the official timer, yesterday afternoon, as he looked over the big crowd from the timer's stand. "Monday is usually an off day at a race track, but there the grand stand, the steps leading to it and the betting shed are all well filled. The people here are certainly in love with the racing game."

Jockey Nicol had two mounts yesterday, and he landed each of them a winner. He was on Follies Bergeres in the first race, and rode Robin Hood in the feature event. He had an easy time with the latter, but it took all the jockeyship that Nicol had at his command to land Follies Bergeres first by a nose from Mill Song in the opener.

* * *

Tocolaw and Lacene, two California horses, started in the fourth event yesterday, but neither landed in the money. Tocolaw is a fast sprinter, which is owned by Jasper Madison, colored, while Lacene is a fast filly belonging to Denny Bros. & Co.

* * *

The handicap to-day at six furlongs should furnish a fine race, with Hyperion II., the Hayes entry, Envoy and others to contest for the winner's end of the purse.

* * *

It was a very "seedy" ride that Seder put up on Keynote in the sixth. The Fizer apprentice did everything except loop the loop and skin the cat with the heavily-backed favorite.

* * *

Oh, my, what a chapter of accidents the "chase" was. Had Disturber taken his cropper at the first jump instead of the fifth, things could not have been worse.

* * *

Redman was a bird in the air yesterday. As the erratic performer skipped and hopped along, only touching the high places, one would have thought the Star Ruby gelding was walking on hot bricks.

* * *

If yesterday's race is any criterion Sanction is about due to win his next out. This one always gets busy after one of these (?) races, and generally when no one is looking, delivers at very lucrative odds.

* * *

The song that was sung by the wise paddock contingent after Mill Song failed to deliver in the opening race, could never be set to music—N-e-v-a-i-r-e.

* * *

"Doesn't he run like a real race horse," exclaimed a fair Bluegrass belle as the short-bred Kingston gelding, Robin Hood, cavorted home with the long end for Johnny Mayberry.

Mums the word. But that's about all. The Free Mason—Lady Godiva trick can stop faster and quicker than Opie Reid's famous Arkansaw train.

Everyone who has ever seen a steeplechase race knows the danger of the boys that are astride the horses, but very few people are aware of the actions of their wives. During the running of the steeplechase race yesterday, when four of the twelve horses had bad falls, and on each occasion it looked as if the boys would be killed, the writer happened to be sitting near one of the jockey's wife. Although her husband was not one of the unfortunate ones, as each one of the horses went down she would jump to her feet with a sigh and, after looking carefully and satisfying herself that her husband was safe, she would shout and clap her hands. But as the horses neared each jump, she would sit as still as a statue, looking anxiously at her husband, and as he would clear the jump safely she would rise and shout: "Be careful, dear," just as if he was listening to her. When the last jump was over and the horses straightened out into the stretch, she was up and shouting and going through a sort of pantomime performance, aping her husband's every move. When the horses reached the wire, and her husband's mount was one of the first three a broad smile broke over her face. Then she sat and watched the riders as they dismounted, and as her husband returned to the judges' stand she waved her hand to him. When he answered with a smile she was happy.

Fonsoluca, my, oh, my, how long overdue you were.

Reinstated at the morning session of the Stewards of the A. T. A. and a mount in the steeplechase in the afternoon was the record of "Wee Davy" McClure. Davy can ride a pretty fair race when he is at himself, and it is hoped that his experience will be the means of keeping him in the right path.

Barney Schreiber, the well-known St. Louis bookmaker and horse owner, last night shipped his crack two-year-old colt Jack Atkin to Memphis with three other horses of his string. Why Schreiber should ship Jack Atkin to Memphis is a question that nobody seemed able to answer last night. This great colt is entered in the Futurity to be run on the opening day at Sheepshead Bay, and is also entered in a number of rich stakes in the East, and he will be shipped to the metropolitan tracks in a short time along with eighteen other horses belonging to Mr. Schreiber. Well posted horsemen last night wondered why Jack Atkin was shipped to Memphis, because they thought he should be sent to New York at once in order to become properly acclimated before he starts in the rich stakes on the metropolitan tracks.

A good part of Fred Cook's big string will be shipped to-day to Toronto to take part in the races on the Canadian circuit. This bunch will include Minnie Adams, Kurtzmann, Nifo and others. There will be a full carload and Trainer Billy Phillips expects to take sixteen horses in all. Jockey Nicol, the crack rider, of the Cook stable, will leave for Toronto Thursday night and will ride the Cook horses at this track. The Toronto meeting will open Saturday, and it gives promise of being the best in the history of this association.

* * *

John Walters, who trains George Hendrie's big string of horses, intended to ship his bunch to Toronto yesterday, but failed to do so because three or four members of the string are sick, and he will keep them at Churchill Downs until they have fully recovered. Mr. Hendrie is one of the most prominent turfmen in Canada, but he always comes to Churchill Downs to race his horses, because he is in sympathy with the American Turf Association and likes Churchill Downs as a racing point.

The racing stable of E. S. Gardner, of Nashville, including fourteen horses, was shipped to Toronto last night, while Sam Parmer, who trains the stable of A. Brown & Co., will ship his bunch to the Canadian city to-day.

SNORED SO LOUD NEIGHBORS COULDN'T SLEEP.

When Accused, May Cotton Says Ben Hays Hit Her In the Jaw.

May Cotton, colored, who lives at 134 West Green street, swore out a warrant yesterday morning for the arrest of Benjamin Hays, also colored, and she charges him with disorderly conduct. They had trouble, she averred in her complaint, because she remonstrated with Hays, who also has a room in the same house, for snoring so loudly that no one else in the house could sleep. Hays became angry when she made this accusation, and she alleged that he struck her with a pair of brass knucks, breaking her jaw.

PHILHARMONIC CONCERT HAS CHOICE PROGRAMME.

To-night's philharmonic concert at Macauley's Theater is the last but one of this season. Mr. Schmidt offers a programme that is interesting and not heavy. His own sacred cantata, "Judith," naturally appeals to those who are proud to do honor to a local composer. Gounod's cantata, "Out of Darkness," is much less ambitious in character than Mr. Schmidt's work, and forms an entire contrast to it. Mrs. Beasley, the principal soloist, is a charming singer, whose admirers will welcome this opportunity to hear her in an aria so well suited to her voice. The programme:

Overture—"Athalia" .... Mendelssohn
Orchestra.
Cantata—"Judith" ....Karl Schmidt
Mrs. Sapinsky, Mr. Webb, Mr. Barr, Mr. Schlicht, Musical Club, Orchestra.
Romance—"Cavalleria Rusticana," ....Mascagni
Mrs. Margaret Proctor Beasley.
Cantata—"Out of Darkness"........Gounod
Mrs. Beasley, Mrs. Sapinsky, Mr. Webb, Mr. Barr, Mr. Root, Musical Club.
Mr. Karl Schmidt, conductor.
Seats at D. H. Baldwin's.

LARKIN RUNNER HIT WITH A BRICK.

Larkin Runner, eleven years old, of 518 West Chestnut street, played the role of the innocent bystander yesterday afternoon when some other boys were having trouble, and as a result he is nursing a badly-lacerated jaw, which stopped a brick, alleged to have been thrown by Frank Clark, who lives at 616 West Walnut street.

Some boys had been playing in the alley in the rear of where Clark lives, and they declare that Clark became angry because one of the boys threw some water on him, and that he picked up half a brick for a missle. Clark's aim was not good, however, and the boys he was throwing at were missed and the Runner boy was struck. He was not badly injured and no arrests were made.

AMATEURS PRESENT "SHAUN AROON."

The Geraldine Dramatic Club presented the curtain raiser, "Forget Me Not," and the Irish romantic drama, "Shaun Aroon," at Macauley's last night. The plays were given under the auspices of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the A. O. H. The audience almost taxed the capacity of the theater, and was responsive to the clever work of the young people who played the parts. Thomas D. Clines and M. F. McGuire played the parts in "Forget Me Not," and the cast of "Shaun Aroon" included James J. Carroll, David O'Connell, Thomas J. Keenan, Jr., Raymond Barrett, Austin E. Walsh, Emmett Mallan, Misses Elizabeth S. King, Ella A. O'Connell and Maggie Hourigan. As entre act offerings David J. Maloney sang and M. F. McGuire recited.

SYSONBY'S LIFE SAVED.

James R. Keene Calls In Family Physician To Treat Great Thoroughbred.

New York, May 14.—By resorting to the extraordinary course of calling in his family physician to treat Sysonby, the greatest horse in the world, James R. Keene has saved the famous racer's life.

A week ago Sysonby was dying. The veterinary surgeon had diagnosed his case wrongly and had given him up.

The Keene family physician, Dr. Charles Barrows, of 8 West Thirty-sixth street, found that the illustrious thoroughbred had eczema and is curing him.

Sysonby will not race this year, but in 1907 he will surely be able to, so far as any effects of his illness are concerned.

Foxhall P. Keene, son of the noted financier and turfman, makes that announcement and told an interesting story of the case, which has deeply concerned all turfmen and lovers of the thoroughbred.

When Dr. Barrows found that Sysonby had eczema in a most acute and aggravated form the treatment of the horse was changed entirely.

"Girth disease" and blood ailments of various kinds had been thought by the veterinary to be torturing the animal into slow death, and he had been treated internally, not to his benefit, either.

The effect of such a malady upon a sensitive, high-strung and nervous thoroughbred like Sysonby was prostrating and deadly.

Mr. Keene appraised Sysonby beyond all figures. Only last winter he refused $200,000 for him and that was a world's price. He had previously smiled at bids of $100,000 and $125,000 made for his pet horse. He had a deep affection for Sysonby, also, for sentiment's sake. The great flyer (now a four-year-old), won $165,063 for his owner in two seasons. Once only in fifteen races was he beaten. To Harry Payne Whitney's Artful belongs the credit of this performance in the Futurity of 1904. Race King ran a dead heat with the Keene winner in the 1905 Metropolitan, when Sysonby was not quite fit. The other thirteen races he won easily.

Collins May Withdraw.

New York, May 14.—The American lawn tennis team of challengers for the Davis Cup international matches arrived to-day at the Crescent Athletic Club, Bay Ridge, but there was no play, owing to rain. Kreigh Collins, of Chicago, appears to have been unable to regain his strength and his playing form. His work is a disappointment to himself, and to the other members of the team. It is said that he may withdraw from the team.

GREAT GAME AT MINNEAPOLIS

Tebeau's Men and Millers Battle For Fourteen Long Innings.

EACH SIDE SCORES ONE RUN.

Claude Elliott Pitches One of the Best Contests of His Career.

HALLMAN'S FINE CATCHES.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., May 14—[Special.]—Without doubt the greatest game which has ever been played on Nicollet Park was that of to-day, when for fourteen innings, covering three long hours, Minneapolis and Louisville struggled in vain, one to defeat the other. Both teams deserve the greatest credit for their work before one of the largest crowds which ever witnessed a contest in this city.

With the score 1 to 1, at the end of the fourteenth inning Umpire Haskell was compelled to call the game on account of darkness. Louisville was beaten in the hitting contest, yet Elliott pitched probably the greatest game of his career. He could not be touched when a run or a hit was most needed by the locals.

Sessions, who was with St. Paul last year, was off color to-day, and was so wild that Manager Kelley decided to take him out, and placed Kilroy at the slab to battle against the Colonels, and he did well.

There were several particularly bright stars in to-day's game, but Hallman easily carried off the palm, making two of the cleverest running catches of the day, and scoring six put-outs, but was unable to secure a hit in four times at bat.

Elliott deserved to win his game, but fate seemed against him. He not only pitched fine ball, but in four times at bat secured two hits, scored two put-outs and was given six assists. For Minneapolis, Oyler played the star game, accepting sixteen chances scoring eight put-outs and eight assists, with no error against him.

One peculiar phase of this fourteen-inning game was the fact that only three Minneapolis batters were struck out by Elliott during the entire contest, yet the hits, eleven in all, were scratches, and failed to count for anything in the way of runs for the locals. Elliott was practically invincible. The score:

Detroit 3, Washington 1.

Washington, May 14.—In a pitchers' battle running ten innings to-day between Kitson and Donovan, Detroit won for the third time, 3 to 1. A close decision at first base against the home team, which resulted in two runs for Detroit, nearly precipitated a riot after the game, a dozen policemen being necessary to escort Umpire Connor to the dressing-room. HEAVY PLAY ON BROOKLYN HANDICAP

Dandelion, Go Between, The Picket and Others Liked For Next Monday's Big Race.

NEW YORK, May 14.—Harry Payne Whitney's Artful and "Diamond Jim" Brady's Oiseau will commence the week equal favorites for the $20,000 Brooklyn Handicap in the future book being made at Cincinnati. Each is held at 5 to 1 now. Oiseau was quoted at 20 to 1 when the first prices were announced at the end of March. Later this was hunched to 25, and within the last ten days the colt that aspires to be Sysonby's rival for premier honors of the year has been backed down to fives. Artful, which opened at 10 to 1, never went higher than twelve, and has been played down recently.

Sysonby, the original favorite in the booking on the Brooklyn, has gone from 5 to 30 to 1, and is regarded as hardly likely to start, although announcements of his having been declared out proved erroneous. Ram's Horn and Roseben, which in turn succeeded Sysonby as favorite, also have gone to longer prices in spite of the heavy wagers made on them by plungers like "Davy" Johnson, Sol Lichtenstein and Frank Tyler.

The Western play which dominated the early prices has given way to the heavy betting done in New York.

In instances where horses have been backed down from long odds to comparatively short prices the cream of the betting has been secured by sharpshooters, clockers, trainers and professional horsemen. Such was the case with Stalwart, Blandy, Knight Errant and Dandelion, though the last-named has been played generally since his good race in the Metropolitan, "Billy" Porter grabbing the last 15 to 1 for $400 worth—$6,000 to $400. Three weeks ago this horse was at 40 to 1 in Weller's book.

The Shields' money has backed Go Between from 60 down to 15, but the Eastern talent does not accord him more than an outside chance unless the Brooklyn should be run on a muddy or heavy track, in which case he is to be played sharply in the ring at Gravesend, where the Brooklyn is to be run next Monday.

To show at a glance the course of speculation on the Brooklyn during the month and a half in one book, the following table has been compiled showing the opening odds, the odds of April 25 and the present prices against the twenty-eight horses that have been backed more or less, and from which the field is expected to come, experts believing not fewer than twenty horses will go to the post on account of it being such an open-looking race:

The remaining twenty-three eligibles are quoted at prices ranging from 50 to 500 to 1, and it is not unlikely that one or two of these outsiders—like Astronomer, or Lord of the Vale or Garnish if the track is muddy—will join the field on May 21.

ASSASSIN'S KNIFE LAYS ADMIRAL LOW

COWARDLY ACT OF FANATICAL RUSSIAN WORKMAN.

COMMANDER OF PORT STABBED TO DEATH.

COMRADES CONCEAL SLAYER.

St. Petersburg, May 14.—Vice Admiral Kuzmich, Commander of the Port, who was very unpopular with the workmen, was assassinated here to-day by workmen whose May Day demonstration he had attempted to stop.

The Admiral was killed at the new Admiralty works, a Government institution where most of the 2,000 men employed there reported for duty at 5 o'clock this morning. They wanted immediately to march out in a body and celebrate the Russian May Day, but finally agreed to work until 2 o'clock in the afternoon. The Admiral, however, made a speech to the men, saying that he could not agree to their leaving at 2 o'clock, and the matter was left open.

About 9:30 a. m., according to an officer who was at the gate of the works, the Admiral was emerging from a small shop in the works when a workman who had been concealed around the corner of the building leaped on Kuzmich from behind and drove a long dagger into his back. The Admiral fell forward on his face, which was badly cut by stones, and died immediately. The assassin fled into a large forge where he was lost among the men employed there. The works were promptly surrounded by troops and police, but the search for the murderer was unavailing, his comrades professing ignorance of his identity.

The police say it is evident that the assassination of the Admiral had been planned in advance. The dagger which was found on the spot was concealed in a round stick, like a sword cane.

Among the workmen are many former sailors and revolutionists. Kuzmich had a bad reputation among the workmen, being regarded as hard and despotic.

The police found her in front of the hotel acting in a dazed manner and after being unable to get coherent answers to their questions, sent her to the hospital.

London, May 14.—Thousands of unemployed persons of both sexes, marched to-day to Hyde Park where James Keir Hardie and George Nicoll Barnes, labor party members of Parliament presided at meetings. The object of the demonstration was to impress on the authorities the fact that there are lots of genuine unemployed people in the metropolis. Resolutions, calling on the authorities to recognize the right of all to work, were adopted.

As soon as the directors show the court that the losses have been paid the receiver will be dismissed and the company will be continued in business.

POSTOFFICE ROBBERS

CAPTURED BY POSSE AFTER HOT CHASE.

Young Farmers Charged With Breaking Into Building—About To Blow Safe.

Vincennes, Ind., May 14.—[Special.]—Five young men broke into the stores of John Gordon and S. and M. Calvert at Russellville and got away with $300 worth of eatables and goods. In Calverts' store is also the village postoffice and as they were about to blast the postoffice safe, Herbert Calvert, son of the postmaster, who had been hiding on the roof on account of previous robberies, surprised the robbers, locked them in and called for help. In the meantime the robbers smashed doors and windows in the rear and Calvert, the town Marshal and citizens gave pursuit. Roy Kimms, Fields Connerd and Robert Beal, young farmers, were captured and are now in jail at Lawrenceville. Warrants are issued for the arrest of Albert McFadden and Carl Cannon. All reside at Russellville.

COTTON MARKETS.

New Orleans, May 14.—The cotton market was quiet during to-day's middle session, but ruled generally steady to firm, and there was some activity early and in the late trading. The close was steady at an advance of 6@9 points. Sales for the day were estimated at 250,000 bales.

The opening was steady in response to higher cables than looked for, large spot sales in the English market and increasing reports of damage to young cotton as a result of the frosts reported last week in the Eastern belt. Prices worked up to a net advance of 4@6 points right after the call on these items, which were reflected in a demand from Liverpool, New Orleans and scattering shorts, but there was quite a good deal of selling of the same character as that noted toward the end of last week. The bull leaders made little attempt to support the market, and during the middle of the day prices slid off a point or two from the top, with the market very quiet. Later there was some support from local bulls and New Orleans, accompanied by predictions for a bullish weekly bureau report to-morrow, and the close was within a point or two of the best prices for the session. Southern spot markets were generally unchanged. Receipts continued about the same as recently and estimates for to-morrow were considered liberal.

Estimated receipts at the ports to-day 9,000 bales, against 8,936 last week and 26,563 last year. For the week 65,000 bales, against 71,605 last week and 130,347 last year. To-day's receipts at New Orleans were 2,901 bales, against 4,494 last year, and at Houston 750 bales, against 3,631 last year.

Spot cotton quiet; middling uplands 11.95c; do gulf 12.20c. Closed quiet and unchanged; sales 4,874 bales.

London Wool Sales.

London, May 14.—A good selection, amounting to 12,926 bales, was offered at the wool auction sales to-day. Competition was spirited. A large supply of cross-breds was in active demand and prices were in sellers' favor. Merinos were readily absorbed, Capes being in good demand. Americans bought a fair supply of medium, coarse cross-breds and a few lots of Cape greasy combings at top rates. Following are the sales in detail:

Foreign Metal Market.

London, May 14.—The copper market was excited to-day, and the demands of shorts and consumers' buying led to a big jump. Prices opened strong at £86 2s 6d, rose sharply and closed at £87 5s, making a rise of £3 since May 11. Tin made an even sharper rise under bear covering, and closed at £212 per ton, showing a rise of £8 since May 11, the last day the market was open. The chief reason attributed here for the rise is the neglect of the American operators to cover in time. It is stated that they are now cornered for material, and that it is impossible to execute the orders cabled here, owing to the insufficiency of supplies.

Copper receded 15s from the highest quotations of the day and closed at £86 10s. Thirteen hundred tons were sold.

Tin further advanced this afternoon, closing at £215. About 750 tons were sold.

Well-informed New York banking interests express themselves as quite optimistic on the United States Steel stocks. The great activity in the steel trade, which has resulted in orders for the Steel Corporation sufficient to absorb its full output for the balance of this year, and in some departments running over into the first quarter of 1907, it is pointed out, can have only one effect, and that is to greatly enhance the earnings of that organization.

The Springfield Railway and Light Company's report for April is not as favorable as those of the preceding months of the present year, due to the coal strike, which necessitated an expenditure of $6,000 over the normal for fuel. The gross earnings continue to show gratifying increases. During April the gross earnings increased 14.05 per cent., and for four months ended April 30 gross earnings increased 12.68 per cent. The surplus earnings for four months increased 41.82 per cent. The surplus of $60,475 for four months is at the rate of 6 per cent. on the capital stock. The April rate was less than 3 per cent. The statement follows:

		P. C. Inc.
Gross earnings	65,402 95	14.05
Operating expenses	42,691 54	22.45
Net earnings	$22,711 41	1.02

For four months ended April 30:		P. C. Inc.

The Chicago and Milwaukee Electric Railroad Company reports for April:

	1906.	1905.	Inc.
Gross earnings	$57,014	$35,827	$21,187
Operating expenses	24,130	16,507	7,623
Net earnings	$32,884	$19,320	$13,564
From Jan. 1 to April 30:
Gross earnings	$177,504	$114,543	$62,961
Operating expenses	90,093	61,193	28,900
Net earnings	$87,411	$53,350	$34,061

Holders of the Central of Georgia securities are greatly interested in the auditor's report for the ten months ending April 30, showing an increase of $1,046,160 in earnings. These figures are of especial interest to the holders of the third income bonds, who last year received 5 per cent. of the third income, and who are hoping to do as well this year. In 1905, for the first time since the road's reorganization in 1895, all classes of bonds, down to the third incomes, received full dividends. It is generally believed that the securities will fare as well this time.

The passenger earnings of the Aurora, Elgin and Chicago Railway Company for the month of April were $79,333.24, against $69,921.23 for April of last year, a gain of $9,412.01. This is 13.4 per cent. gain. The gain in miscellaneous will doubtless bring the total gain for the month up to $10,500. It is believed that the gain in net for the month will be in the neighborhood of $7,500. For the first six days of May the property shows a gain in gross earnings of $4,100, or 28½ per cent. over the earnings of last year. It is not expected that this high rate of gain will keep up for the complete month, but it is believed that the gain in passenger earnings for the month will be from 18 to 20 per cent.

At the special meeting of Aurora, Elgin and Chicago stockholders next month they will be asked to authorize $10,000,000 new bonds, it is said, and not $25,000,000 as first proposed, the new issue to be held in the treasury until plans for improvements and extensions are more mature.

The Chattanooga Railways Company reports for the month of April gross earnings of $38,872, an increase of $4,582; since January $139,897, increase $24,870.

Gross earnings of the Nashville Railway and Light Company during March were $110,768, an increase of $19,680, and for the quarter $313,932, an increase of $62,426.

The following is from the Michigan Banker: "Although Cleveland's population is only ½ of 1 per cent. of the population of the whole country, the metropolis of Ohio holds $185,000,000 in savings, or more than 6 per cent. of the total savings bank deposits of the United States. Cleveland banks advertise all over the country their system of "banking by mail"—and have for some time invaded the State of Michigan through farm papers and other mediums. They get the deposits by offering a higher rate of interest than the local banks pay. Michigan banks could profitably go after some of this business."

Press reports from Philadelphia state that the syndicate headed by Randal Morgan and closely identified with the United Gas Improvement Company, has purchased control of the Evansville Electric Railway Company, paying, it is understood, "$150 a share for all of the capital stock." E. W. Clark & Co., of Philadelphia, recently purchased control of the Evansville Gas and Electric Company from Parson & Co., and it is supposed that a consolidation of the trolley and illuminating properties of Evansville and suburbs is impending in the interest of the United Gas Improvement Company.

After so serious a break in prices as that following upon the San Francisco earthquake it is astonishing to record an even more violent rally, says the Wall Street Journal. In the average of twenty active railroad stocks, taking fourteen days' decline from April 18 to May 3, there were two small rallies and one fairly important one of over two points. In the recovery of the past seven working days, on the contrary, there has not been a single check, while the relative speed has been even greater. Fourteen days' decline 12.66 points; daily average 90. Seven days' rally 7.86 points; daily average 1.12. Twenty active railways April 17, 132.66. Twenty active railways May 3, 120.30. Twenty active railways May 11, 128.16. The rally is, of course, more than the usual 40 per cent. to 50 per cent. of a panic decline. The inference is fairly obvious. The averages saw their highest point on record January 22 at 138.36; lost between that date and May 3 18.06 points and have now rallied 7.86 points. On past experience of the average movement of prices it would seem that the break was part of the irregular decline since January 22, of course enormously accelerated by the San Francisco disaster. The market of April 17, in fact, was probably on its way down in any case.

MARKET LETTERS.

New York.—We look at Ontario and Western, Chesapeake and Ohio and the Eries as being good purchases on any further reactions. The outlook for to-morrow's market is for further irregularity. There may be lower prices in the early part of the day, in which event the market might be bought for a turn only, but we firmly believe that the trend of the market will be downward in the latter half of the week.—(Hutton & Co. to John L. Dunlap.

New York.—The slight reaction in the market was natural. The close was steady, and on any recessions in the morning we would advise purchases.—(Kelley, Miller & Co. to Almstedt Bros.

New York.—Copper stocks were the feature of trading in the first hour. It seemed that all the active brokers and traders on the floor were in Amalgamated and Anaconda at the opening. The Hill stocks were strong.—(Ex. Norton & Co. to J. J. B. Hilliard & Son.

New York.—It is a hard market to read. The recovery in prices recently has been exceptional, and the professional talent have been constantly trying to feel for the top in the expectation of a reaction. The basis for the improvement has been the decidedly better outlook, both here and abroad, and the easing in money rates. At the same time few can bring themselves to believe that a decided bull movement is likely to set in at this time of the year, following immediately after a real crisis in prices. It seems more probable that from now on we shall have trading conditions at about this level, with a less active market. There is undoubtedly still a considerable short interest outstanding, which is always a steadying influence in the market.—(Post & Flagg to John W. & D. S. Green.

New York.—As there is but little public participation in the market, it seems to be the belief that the majority of securities is held by strong interests, and it is assumed that these will support the market sufficiently to prevent any serious setback until such time as settled monetary conditions shall permit an advance in securities to the levels warranted by the general prosperity of the country.—(A. O. Brown & Co. to Hunt, Bridgeford & Co.

New York.—The industrials assumed leadership, among them our favorites—Smelters and Amalgamated Copper. The market is declining of its own weight. It was found that the room and professional elements were selling the list on the general strength, with a view to a reaction. The market is conservatively handled, and we believe the shortage elimination has been followed by a re-establishment of this important factor to a large extent. We continue conservatively bullish. Purchases of standard stocks on recessions will bring good rewards, according to information and other signs of an exclusive nature.—(Ware & Leland.

New York.—The setback was a natural one.

It should go some further. The big people now would probably just as leave have a new short interest develop before carrying the market up higher. We will get an irregular market for a few days. Then the specialties will probably be made features. It looked as if considerable railroad stock was distributed to-day. Most news developments were favorable. Time money was easier.—(C. I. Hudson & Co. to S. C. Henning & Co.

New York.—There seemed nothing to warrant a break, except an overbought condition of the market. A reaction was overdue, and places the market in a healthier position. Some further setback would not be surprising, but we think stocks should be picked up on further reactions. Money conditions, crops, earnings, etc., will bring the market to a higher level.—(W. L. Lyons & Co.

New York.—The decline during the afternoon was mainly on profit taking and the temporary overbought condition of the market. We look for this reaction to go somewhat further, but if the market declines to-morrow we think it would be a purchase again.—(Dominick & Dominick to Halsey & Halsey.

STOCK MARKET REVIEW.

New York, May 14.—Money on call easy at 3@3¼ per cent.; ruling rate 3¼; closing bid 3; offered at 3¼; time loans dull; 60 days, 90 days and six months 5 per cent.; prime mercantile paper 5¼@5¾. Sterling exchange steady at $4.8550@4.8555 for demand and at $4.8230@4.8235 for 60-day bills; posted rates $4.83 and $4.86½; commercial bills $4.82@4.82½. Bar silver 66⅜c. Mexican dollars 51c. Government bonds steady. Railroad bonds firm.

The early stock market to-day gave no evidence of a change from the advancing tendency of last week, but before the day was over a clearly defined reactionary tendency developed. An explanation which seemed sufficient to satisfy the professional trading view was that the recovery from the depression following the San Francisco calamity had run its due course. Professional traders have been feeling for the top of the market for a number of days by making tentative short sales and trying to turn the market downwards. There was no striking new development in the situation to-day to warrant a renewal of positive depression in the speculative outlook, but with the turn in the direction of prices there was an inevitable change in the temper of the speculation, and some revival of consideration was given to a number of factors which were prominent at the time of the downward course in prices.

The news of a large temporary loan by the Pennsylvania Company and the reports current of a high rate of interest to be paid on the loan called renewed attention to the heavy capital requirements yet to be met in the money market. The relaxation in the money market following the enormous sudden demand for cash precipitated by the San Francisco losses has served to build up a sanguine feeling amongst speculators that an indefinite period of ease in the money market is assured. The Pennsylvania financing recalls that many important projects have been awaiting more advantageous terms in the money market, and which may be counted on to be brought forward to take advantage of any relaxation in money rates. Western news dispatches this morning gave large space to the extension project by the Great Northern Railway, and mention is made also of plans by the Union Pacific for lines into new territory. The St. Paul extension to the Pacific is known to be actively under way. An early issue of part of the $100,000,000 of new capital authorized by the New York Central is expected. There are also large holdings of railroad bonds already issued and still in first hands, with resulting heavy loans from the banks to carry them, which are expected to come on the market with any improvement in the investment demand.

Another incident of the day which affected speculative sentiment unpleasantly was the reduction in the dividend by the Parrot Silver and Copper Company, a minor subsidiary company of the Amalgamated Copper Company. This operated to interrupt very heavy speculative buying in the copper group based on the excited advance in the price of copper metal and copper mining stocks in London. The strength in this group was being used as the mainstay of the market to hold it against the selling to take profits, which was going on at other points. When the copper stocks gave way the whole market yielded. News of general conditions continued uniformly favorable to-day. Railroad traffic officials reported that the slight hesitation manifest amongst merchants after the San Francisco calamity had been dispelled, and with it the fear that business reaction was impending in the country.

Rates for money continued to work easier, and the London market was cheerful over the prospect of declining money rates there, the Bank of England having secured all newly arriving gold in that market. This country's April exports of agricultural products shows an increase in value of $12,782,000 over those of the preceding April.

The downward drift of prices of stocks continued through the afternoon, and the closing was heavy, with only slight rallies.

FOREIGN FINANCIAL.

London, May 14.—Money was in increased demand to-day, due to the call for $5,000,000 in Ontario Government stock. Supplies were plentiful and discounts easier. The Stock Exchange commenced the week with a cheerful session, the settlement of the Anglo-Turkish dispute and easier money favorably influencing consols and other first-class securities, while the fine weather induced buying of home rails in anticipation of good traffic relations. Americans opened above parity and ruled firm during the forenoon, despite moderate profit-taking and the report of a Pennsylvania railroad note issue. Grand Trunk and Canadian Pacific were particularly in request. In the afternoon Wall street advices caused a hardening of prices and then the market sagged and closed dull, with prices steady. Foreigners firm on good Paris buying. Mexican rails were buoyant. Japanese Imperial 6s of 1904 were quoted at 101½. Copper and tin shares hardened in sympathy with the metals. Closing: Consols for money 89¾; do for the account 89 15-16; Anaconda 14¼; Atchison 92; do preferred 105½; Baltimore and Ohio 112½; Canadian Pacific 166¼; Chesapeake and Ohio 60¾; Chicago Great Western 20¼; Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul 175; De Beers 18¼; Denver and Rio Grande 45¼; do preferred 90¼; Erie 45; do 1st preferred 80⅜; do 2d preferred 71½; Illinois Central 177½; Louisville and Nashville 150; Missouri, Kansas and Texas 34¾; New York Central 145⅛; Norfolk and Western 91½; do preferred 94; Ontario and Western 52; Pennsylvania 69⅝; Rand Mines 6⅝; Reading 67¼; do 1st preferred 46; do 2d preferred 47; Southern Railway 39⅝; do preferred 103; Southern Pacific 68¼; Union Pacific 155¼; do preferred 98; United States Steel 42⅞; do preferred 109⅝; Wabash 21⅝; do preferred 47¼; Spanish 4s 93. The rate of discount in the open market for three-months' bills is 3½@3⅝ per cent.

Paris, May 14.—Prices on the Bourse to-day were very firm at the opening, but at the close were irregular. Russian Imperial 4s were quoted at 83.35 and Russian bonds of 1904 at 509. Three per cent. rentes 99f 27½c for the account. Exchange on London 25f 18½c for checks.

Berlin, May 14.—Trading on the Boerse to-day was dull and prices were weak, mainly owing to profit-taking. Exchange on London 20 marks 51 pfgs. for checks. Discount rates: Short bills 3⅜ per cent.; three months' bills 3⅜ per cent.

St. Petersburg, May 14.—Prices on the Bourse to-day continued strong. Imperial 4s closed at 75¾ and 5s at 89.

LIVE STOCK MARKETS.

Louisville.

(Reported by the Louisville Live Stock Exchange, Bourbon Stock Yards.)

Louisville, May 14.—Cattle—The receipts of cattle to-day were 915 head, against 908 last Monday, 872 a year ago and 948 two years ago to-day. There was about the usual attendance of local and foreign buyers on the yards to-day. The bulk of the offerings to-day were slop steers, running principally from tail-ends to the medium kinds, and on this class of cattle the market was slow, and it required considerable effort on the part of salesmen to maintain last Monday's prices. Choice handy-weight butcher cattle, especially cow and heifer stuff, were not very plentiful, and there was some little activity in the trade on such cattle; the common and trashy kinds were slow at unchanged prices. Not many feeders or stockers here to-day; the most desirable kinds met with ready sale at current prices; in fact, not enough such cattle here to supply the demand; the plain and common grades were very slow to change hands. The bull market was fully steady; canners unchanged. Choice milch cows met with ready sale; others slow. Not many heavy shipping cattle here to-day; the feeling on that class was easy, owing to unfavorable reports from other market points. The pens were fairly well cleared, but the buyers were well supplied, and the market closed slow at barely steady prices.

Calves—Receipts of calves 62 head. The market was just about steady; the best $5.25@5.75; common kinds slow.

Hogs—The receipts of hogs to-day were 2,638 head, against 3,196 last Monday, 2,154 a year ago and 3,339 two years ago. There was a good active local and shipping demand to-day; good pigs were 5c higher; other grades were steady; selected, 120 pounds and up, selling at $6.50; pigs ranged from $5.75 to $6.25; roughs $5.80 down. The pens were well cleared and the market closed fully steady.

Sheep and Lambs—The receipts of sheep and lambs to-day were 522 head, against 760 last Monday, 722 a year ago and 1,693 two years ago to-day. The market ruled firm on good to choice fat sheep to-day and a shade higher, the best selling at $4.50@5; the common and trashy kinds were slow at unchanged prices; good to choice spring lambs were in good demand at $8 for the best; butcher lambs $5@7; common and trashy springers were very slow sale. There was a fair demand for choice stock ewes.

(Reported by the Central Live Stock Exchange, Central Stock Yards.)

Louisville, May 14.—Cattle—There was a liberal run of cattle here to-day, and, with a fairly good attendance of buyers on the yard, the market was strong to a shade higher. The choice lightweight butcher stuff, weighing from 600 to 800 pounds, are selling better than any other class and sold about 10c higher than the close of last week, while the heavier weights were easily disposed of at fully steady prices. The common and medium grades were more eagerly sought after than a week ago, but that class is not quotably higher. There were several country buyers on the yards this morning, and the choice stockers and feeders were disposed of at strong to a shade higher prices, but they were manifesting very little interest for the common, rough kinds. Bulls and canners strong. Choice milch cows a shade higher; thin small cows dull and hard to sell. Heavy shipping cattle about steady.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, May 14.—Reports that the wheat crop in the Southwest, especially in Kansas, is suffering for a lack of rain strengthened the local wheat market to-day, the close being firm, with the July option up ⅛@¼c. Corn was ⅛c higher. Oats showed a gain of ⅜@½c. Provisions were a shade to 5c higher.

With the exception of a brief period at the opening the tone of the wheat market was firm all day. The opening weakness was occasioned by reports of scattered showers throughout the wheat-growing country in general, lower Liverpool cables and larger world shipments, especially from Russia. Later came many reports that the crop in the Southwest is suffering from lack of rain. These advices brought large buying orders shortly after the opening, and, offerings being light, prices advanced rapidly. The market continued strong until late in the day, when much of the advance was lost on profit-taking, due to reports of rain in Texas, Oklahoma and Indian Territory. The best buying of the day was by commission houses and local longs were the principal sellers. The market closed firm. July opened ⅛@⅜c lower at 80½@80⅝c, advanced to 81½@81⅝c and closed at 81@81⅛c. Clearances of wheat and flour were equal to 314,000 bushels. The amount of breadstuffs on passage decreased 912,000 bushels, while the visible supply decreased 2,495,000 bushels. Primary receipts were 333,000 bushels, compared with 259,000 one year ago. Minneapolis, Duluth and Chicago reported receipts of 154 cars, against 244 last week and 163 a year ago.

The corn market was firm the greater part of the day, cash houses being liberal purchasers. Continued small local receipts furnished the principal incentive to buyers. The market was a trifle easier at the opening because of a small decline at Liverpool, but during the last hour much of the strength was lost on profit-taking by local holders. The market closed steady. July opened ⅛c lower at 46c, advanced to 46⅝c and closed at 46⅝c. Local receipts were 80 cars, with 13 of contract grade.

The oats market was firm on small local receipts and constantly decreasing stocks. Cash houses and shorts were active bidders all day, but offerings were not large. July opened unchanged at 31⅝c, sold up to 32⅛@32¼c and closed at 32@32⅛c. Local receipts were 81 cars.

Provisions were quiet and steady. Local packers gave the market moderate support and the offerings came from local bears. At the close July pork was up 5c at $15.45. Lard was up 2½c at $8.60. Ribs were a shade higher at $8.80.

Estimated receipts for to-morrow are: Wheat 35 cars; corn 95; oats 134; hogs 16,000 head.

New York, May 14.—Spot. Rio steady; No. 7 invoice 7⅝c; mild steady; Cordova 9¼@10½c. The market for futures opened steady at unchanged prices to a decline of 5 points under liquidation through Wall-street houses in spite of rather steadier European markets than expected. Brazilian news was without special feature and the local market showed little change after the opening, the close being steady, net unchanged to 5 points lower. The sales for the day were reported as 36,500 bags, including May at 6.25c, July at 6.40c, August at 6.50c, September at 6.60c, December at 6.85@6.90c and March at 7.05c.

New York.—The coffee market opened at a partial decline of 5 points, in spite of stronger European cables. At midday prices were 5 points lower all around and the market seemed barely steady, although there was hardly enough business doing at the decline to impart any decided tendency. Sales for the first half of the session were about 10,000 bags. Considering the decline of 5@10 points in the local market of Saturday, the loss of ¼ franc at Havre and of a partial ¼ pfg. at Hamburg was not considered an unfavorable showing and the primary markets were also steady, for while Rio was 50 reis lower the rate of Brazilian exchange advanced quite sharply once more, the gain reported since the previous day being 7-32d. Receipts continued on about the recent scale, which is to say double the figures of last year. Warehouse deliveries out of New York stock on Saturday were 9,093 bags and the deliveries for the week were 60,650 bags, against 64,040 for the same week last year.—(Ware & Leland.

New York, May 14.—Affairs in the dry goods market to-day remained quiet, with a fair amount of seasonable business. Buyers refused to commit themselves to future contracts on staple cotton goods. Bleached goods held more firmly in consequence of the scarcity in wide cloths of print cloths or finer yarn construction. Several new lines for the spring of 1907 were taken freely.

TO CHARITIES

JOHN KENNEDY GAVE $50,000 BEFORE HIS DEATH.

Kept Donations From Public Notice—Dies In Old Age At Infirmary.

John Kennedy, a wealthy bachelor, eighty-one years of age, died of a complication of diseases at St. Joseph's Infirmary Sunday night. He had made that institution his home for the last twenty-five years, and leaves no near relatives. It was not until after his death that announcement was made that a few years ago he distributed about $50,000 among the different charitable institutions of Louisville. It was his desire to give all his money away before his death, but it is understood that he left a considerable fortune. Edward McDonough, his life-long friend, is named executor of his estate.

About fifty years ago Mr. Kennedy came to this country from Ireland. He was accompanied by his uncle, Patrick Goss, and his sister. The sister died soon after her arrival in America. The uncle is now living at Nazareth, Ky. Frank E. Wybrant, the photographer at 434 East Market street, is a second cousin of Mr. Kennedy.

Mr. Kennedy was a civil engineer, and built many of the roads in Jefferson county and Central Kentucky. He later became interested in a string of country stores. He was fortunate in nearly all of his financial ventures, and from almost nothing accumulated considerable wealth. At one time he held a large interest in the Gray Hampton Mills.

Edward McDonough, of the Carter Dry Goods Company, who was probably the closest friend Mr. Kennedy possessed, said yesterday afternoon that it was Mr. Kennedy's desire that as little as possible be said concerning him at his death. He was a man who disliked for his name to appear in the public print, and when he made his donation to charitable institutions of Louisville all was accomplished so quietly that the fact did not become generally known.

Just before his death Mr. Kennedy made arrangements for his own funeral. He requested his friend, Mr. McDonough, to see to it that the funeral service was conducted at St. Joseph's Infirmary this morning at 8:30 o'clock and at the Cathedral of the Assumption at 9 o'clock. The burial will be in St. Louis cemetery.

IN PECULIAR MANNER

JOSEPH KONNERSMANN DIES IN HIS ROOM.

Coroner Making Investigation—Morphine and Hypodermic Needle On Table.

Joseph Konnersman, forty-five years old, of 550 Fifth street, died under peculiar circumstances yesterday afternoon shortly after 3 o'clock in his room, and the Coroner, Dr. Harris Kelly, is conducting an investigation. Konnersmann was heard to scream a short time after he had entered his room, and the landlady of the house rushed to his apartment to find him on his knees on the floor and rapidly losing consciousness.

She called Dr. L. J. Ernstberger, who went quickly and did everything possible for the man, but to no avail, and he died within a few minutes. Dr. Ernstberger said that when he entered the room he noticed a quantity of morphine on the table and also a hypodermic needle. This led him to the conclusion that the man was poisoned, and he immediately applied antidotes, which failed to revive Konnersmann.

It was said at the house that Konnersmann had been a victim of organic heart trouble for about four months, but Dr. D. Y. Roberts, who has been his physician, said he did not expect the sudden death of the man from that disease. Dr. Ernstberger was not satisfied as to the cause of death, and called the Coroner, who probably will hold an autopsy to determine the question.

Mr. Konnersmann was a brother of Mrs. Herman Tafel, 231 East Madison street. For some time he was employed at The Seelbach Hotel, but he has had no regular work of late. No funeral arrangements have been made as yet.

LAW ATTACKED

Validity of Sewer Commission Act Questioned.

ALSO ALLEGED THAT SPRINKLING CONTRACT IS VOID.

ALIENATION SUIT OF MRS. LETTIE KLEIN ON TRIAL.

THREE WILLS ARE TENDERED.

An injunction suit in which the validity of both the law creating the Sewer Commission and the newly-signed contract for public sprinkling is attached was brought yesterday in the name of Robert P. Weimer, who is in the sprinkling business, and has for a year or so been involved in a controversy with the Louisville Water Company over the right to purchase water. He is represented by Maj. H. M. Lane, who has brought many suits attacking the validity of various important city ordinances. Among other things Maj. Lane questions the constitutionality of the license ordinance so far as it affects butchers and insurance companies. He is asking for a receiver for the Louisville Water Company, alleging that it has no corporate existence. So far he has been upheld in none of these contentions.

In his action of yesterday involving the sprinking contracts the Weimer petition alleges that the city has no right to make a contract with the Tramway Sprinkling Company and the Louisville Railway Company for sprinkling purposes, because the General Council in fixing its levy did not incorporate an especial item to pay for sprinkling. In his suit of about a year ago he alleged that the city had no right to make a special levy for sprinkling purposes, because it was not empowered by the statute so to do.

His attack upon the Sewer Commission law which empowers the General Council to submit to the vote of the people the proposition to issue $4,000,000 of bonds to pay for the new sewer is based upon the assertion that the law is class legislation. The petition says that the statute falls within this category because it was passed for Louisville individually instead of for cities of the first class. It is alleged that by August 31 the city will have spent $50,000 in making its plans for the sewer work, and an injunction to prevent the payment of this money is asked.

Alienation Case On Trial.

For the third time, the $50,000 damage suit brought by Mrs. Lettie Mabel Klein against Mrs. Ida B. Klein, her mother-in-law, upon the charge of alienation of her husband's affections, went to trial yesterday in Judge O'Doherty's court.

The younger Mrs. Klein, whose home is at Clinton, Rock county, Wis., was married to the defendant's son, Garnett Rosell Klein, in 1902, and soon after came to this city to make their home with the young man's parents. After several months of residence here Mrs. Klein returned to her father, and a short while later sued her husband for alimony and her parents-in-law for the alleged alienation of her husband's affection. Her charges were directed particularly against Mrs. Ida B. Klein, who, she said, made every effort to break down her husband's affection. The court entered a ruling in favor of John Klein, the father-in-law.

In the first trial of the case the jury failed to agree, but on the second hearing a verdict of $4,000 was awarded the plaintiff. This, however, was set aside by Special Judge I. T. Woodson, who sat in the case.

In the suit for alimony Garnett Rosell Klein filed a counter claim for absolute divorce, which, however, was denied. The plaintiff was awarded $25 a month alimony, and the defendant took the case to the Court of Appeals, where it is now pending.

Three Wills Tendered.

The following wills were tendered yesterday in the County Court:

The will of Sabina Langam, dated April 28, 1906. A bequest of $150 to go for masses to be said for the repose of the souls of her father, mother, Dennis McCue and herself. The personalty goes to her husband, while her brother, Michael Durkin, receives her house, at 505 Twenty-third street. William Ryan is made executor without bond.

The will of Maggie Delando, dated February 23, 1906. The entire property goes to Richard Delando, her husband, who is made executor without bond.

The will of Gertrude Maria Kippes, dated April 28, 1905. The bulk of her estate goes to her brother, Bernard Monte, of Germany. She also leaves $50 to St. Sylvester's church, East Bernstadt, Ky.; $110 to St. Peter's church to pay for masses, and $5 to St. Joseph's Orphan Society. August Kippes is named executor without bond.

Patrolman Lapaille Acquitted.

Patrolman John J. Lapaille, charged with interfering with election officers in the discharge of their duty last election at the Twentieth precinct of the Twelfth ward, was tried in the Criminal Court yesterday and found not guilty. He was accused by the Fusion clerk, Fred Roth, of having removed the ballot box from the voting place.

Court of Appeals Decisions.

Pat Carman's Administrator vs. Illinois Central Railroad Company.—Filed May 2, 1906.—(Not to be reported.)—Appeal from Graves Circuit Court. Opinion of the Court by Judge Settle, affirming.

Railroads—Killing Brakeman — Negligence of Engineer — Fellow Servants—Laws of Tennessee—Liability.—On the trial of an action by the administrator of an intestate, who was a brakeman on a railroad train, and who was killed in the State of Tennessee by the negligence of the engineer in the operation of the train in making a flying switch. Held—That under the laws of Tennessee the brakeman and the engineer of a train are fellow servants, and under the ruling of the courts in that State there can be no recovery for an injury or death caused to a servant by the negligence of his fellow servant.

W. J. Webb, R. E. Johnston, B. C. Seay, for appellant; Robbins & Thomas, J. M. McKinson, Trabue, Doolan & Cox, for appellee.

Adams Express Company vs. Commonwealth of Kentucky. (Case No. 1835.)—Filed April 27, 1906.—(To be reported.)—Appeal from Knox Circuit Court. Opinion of the Court by Judge Barker, affirming.

First Local Option—Nonresident—Shipping Whisky into Local Option County in Kentucky—Liability of Carrier.—On the trial of the defendant for a violation of the local option law in force in Knox county, Kentucky, the evidence for the Commonwealth showed the delivery by the defendant's agent to one J. D. Main of a gallon of whisky for which he paid $3.85, which the agent at once transmitted to the shipper of the whisky in Cincinnati; also that Main did not order the whisky and did not know the name of the consignor, but it was shipped to him at Barbourville, Knox county, Kentucky, from Cincinnati by the Adams Express Company, C. O. D. The defendant seeks to take this transaction from within the operation of the local option law of Kentucky by alleging that it was an interstate commerce transaction. The burden to establish this fact is on the defendant.

Second, C. O. D. Statute—Regulating Interstate Commerce.—It may be conceded on this trial that the amendment of the prohibition law, commonly called the "Farris" or "C. O. D." law, has no bearing upon the merits of the case. The prohibition statute, without the amendment, forbids under penalty the sale of liquor by retail in Knox county, but neither the statute nor the amendment undertakes to regulate interstate commerce. No State statute can affect interstate commerce, and the Legislature did not attempt to do so by the "C. O. D." statute.

Third, Interstate Commerce—Construction.—We understand the United States Supreme Court in construing the Wilson Bill to have decided that when whisky is purchased in a foreign State, it may be shipped by the seller to the buyer, into a State where the sale of liquor is prohibited by law; that it is interstate commerce, unaffected by the local law, until it is delivered to the consignee, and the mere lapse of time, or the particular place where the goods are kept until called for, have no effect to change the quality of the transaction so that it ceases to be interstate commerce before the delivery. If the transaction be interstate commerce originally, it continues so until the goods are delivered into the hands of the consignee.

Fourth, Same.—Interstate commerce cannot be based upon fraud or chicanery; but must necessarily be a legitimate transaction. The Constitution and statutes of the United States are not shields for criminals; nor do they furnish a means by which crime may be effectuated. The transaction which took place between Cincinnati and Barbourville bears the same resemblance to interstate commerce as the wares of a green-goodsman bears to the genuine money of the United States; both are mere counterfeits.

Fifth, Bona Fide Shipments—Illegal Sending of Whisky.—Held—Unless there was a bona fide shipment to a real consignee in Barbourville the transaction was not interstate commerce, but a mere simulacrum of interstate commerce. There was no bona fide shipment of merchandise from Cincinnati to Barbourville, but there was an illegal sending of whisky into Knox county for the purpose of finding a buyer there. In its very substance the unknown consignor, whose headquarters is a lock box in the Cincinnati postoffice, simply appointed the Adams Express Company as his agent to find for him a purchaser in Knox county for a gallon of whisky for a given commission.

Sixth—Carriers—Common Law Duty.—Appellant cannot shelter itself under its common law duty as a common carrier of goods. There is no common law duty devolving upon a common carrier to act as the collecting agent of the consignor; that is a matter of private contract, and one in which the carrier may enter into or refuse at its option.

Lawrence Maxwell, Jr., Joseph S. Graydon, C. W. Metcalf, for appellant; N. B. Hays, Attorney General, Charles H. Morris, for appellee.

NEW SCHEDULE

TO BE ESTABLISHED FOR COMMUTERS NEXT SUNDAY.

L. and N. Railroad Finds New Trains Successful and Will Make Improvements.

A new schedule will go into effect Sunday for the accommodation trains operated by the L. and N. railroad between Louisville and Lagrange and Shelbyville. No official announcement has been made yet, but it is known that the recent schedule that went into effect was in the nature of an experiment, and the news of the change will be welcomed by the army of commuters who use this system. The commutation trains have been very successful from the railroad company's point of view, as the traffic has about doubled since the establishment of this service.

The L. and N., in making the changes, is acting largely on the suggestions of commuters. One change, which will be approved greatly, will be a train that will leave the upper end of the road between 11 and 12 o'clock, and which will be especially for the convenience of woman shoppers, as it will reach Louisville in time for lunch. An effort also is being made to have included in the revised schedule a train to leave this city after 11 o'clock at night, for the accommodation of those who come in for lodge meetings, receptions and entertainments of various kinds.

New Freight Agent.

R. A. Harris has been appointed local agent in the freight receiving department of the Southern Railway, with an office at Thirteenth street and High avenue. Mr. Harris is an addition to the local railway forces, having been recently transferred from the Southern's freight department at Jacksonville, Fla. This change comes as a promotion, and will be received with pleasure by his friends.

John A. Scott Here.

John A. Scott, assistant general passenger agent of the Illinois Central railroad, with headquarters at Memphis, reached Louisville yesterday, accompanied by his wife. Mr. and Mrs. Scott will be here for several days.

TIRED OF LIFE AWFUL SUFFERING

From Dreadful Pains From Wound on Foot—System All Run Down After Six Months' Agony—Not Able to Work—Completely Cured in Two Weeks

MIRACULOUS CURE BY CUTICURA REMEDIES

"Words cannot speak highly enough for the Cuticura Remedies. I am now seventy-two years of age. My system had been all run down. My blood was so bad that blood poisoning had set in. I had several doctors attending me, so finally I went to the hospital, where I was laid up for two months. My foot and ankle were almost beyond recognition. Dark blood flowed out of wounds in many places, and I was so disheartened that I thought surely my last chance was slowly leaving me. As the foot did not improve, you can readily imagine how I felt. I was simply disgusted and tired of life. I stood this pain, which was dreadful, for six months, and during this time I was not able to work a shoe and not able to work.

"Some one spoke to me about Cuticura. The consequences were I bought a set of the Cuticura Remedies of one of my friends who was a druggist, and the praise that I gave after the second application is beyond description; it seemed a miracle, for the Cuticura Remedies took effect immediately. I washed the feet with the Cuticura Soap before applying the Ointment and I took the Resolvent at the same time. After two weeks' treatment my foot was healed completely. People who had seen my foot during my illness and who have seen it since the cure, can hardly believe their own eyes."

The Farrand-Cecilian Piano

A high-grade upright piano with the famous Metal Action Cecilian Piano Player built inside the case. A Piano that anyone can play without experience or musical knowledge.

Not affected by dampness or climatic changes. The piano par-excellence for the summer home or the yacht.

The Metal Action of the Cecilian Piano Player, which is built into the Farrand-Cecilian piano, is made of steel, brass and phosphor-bronze, and is not affected in any manner by dampness, heat, or weather changes of any sort.

The old style wooden construction (still used in all other makes of piano-players) is peculiarly susceptible to all atmospheric changes on account of the continued swelling and shrinkage of the wood, and the leakages occasioned thereby necessitate frequent repairs, which are both troublesome and expensive.

The Cecilian Metal Action practically does away with the necessity for repairs, and in the Farrand-Cecilian piano provides you with an instrument which is always ready for use and can be played by any one either with the fingers, like any ordinary piano, or by means of the Cecilian piano-player built into it. No experience, no knowledge of music is necessary. Can be bought on easy payments, and your old piano taken in exchange at its full value.
